Hoover's Address Ranks, Says G.O.P.; Dems Drop the "s"

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 14.—According to the Republican press of the country, Hoover's speech ranks right along with Washington's after dinner effusions and some of Lincoln's monologs, but according to the Democratic press it was just another Republican press clipping and is in a "class with all presidential seconding speeches."

But as an independent, I could see much truth and novelty in it. He was against poverty, favored education even if you couldn't get into a fraternity, he said prohibition was a noble experiment and he believed in noble things, even if they were only experiments.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Pa Newc thought he saw a Christmas tree coming down the street early this morning. A second look revealed that it was a small truck being used to carry green vegetables to market. And how that truck was loaded. Not only was the bed of the truck full, but the running boards were covered and even the hood of the machine was utilized. Parsnips or some sort of bulb vegetables were thick on top of the hood of the car.

Reynoldstowners are meeting again this afternoon at the Pearson street school. Tomorrow the annual old timers get together will be held at Cascade park. Large numbers of former residents of the city are here to take part in the programs.

Why not a reunion of old time Martin Gantz pupils? This old school is soon to fade into memory, and it would be quite an idea for old time students at this school to get together, thinks Pa Newc.

Try and get a plumber today! This is the day of the annual outing of local plumbers at Etna Springs park.

At last everything is all set at the new Central Fire station on South Jefferson street and the firemen are comfortably settled in their new home. The last thing to be erected was the radio set. Now firemen are sure of some way in which they can while away a long evening when waiting for a call for service.

Strange to say, firemen read many other things besides newspaper while they are on duty. Many have two or three books in their lockers, and when conversation palls, they find out how they did it in the romantic nineties.

These are times that try men's souls. In the afternoon it is warm, but the evenings and morning—then one must sleep with one or two blankets to be at all comfortable.

Oats are cut. In the Pennsylvania Dutch country there is an adage which runs to the effect that when the wind blows over the oats stubble, fall is here. Perhaps it's true, and perhaps it is not.

Officer Dukes of the New Castle police force is on his vacation. He is touring through the east. Just to make the boys back home a trifle envious, he writes that he saw Simmons bat out a home run the other day when Washington was playing Philadelphia, with the bases loaded. But it is a policeman's holiday. He also writes that he has visited the department of every city he has passthrough.

Again the number of motorists which pass street cars when they are stopped to discharge passengers is seeming to mount. The pedestrian has no rights left. Soon it will be worse.

Less than a month and the kids of New Castle leave the city playgrounds and the ole swimmin' hole behind and start trudging the books. They don't know what they're getting, in the way of opportunity. New Castle has the finest schools that are available.

Listened to a tale yesterday of the old days in the fire department when a horse was a horse and a fire meant a wild ride. One night a call came when all were asleep. It was just 16 seconds from when the gong rang until they were on the way.

Wind And Water Menace Florida; Situation Grave

Fresh Winds Whip West Coast Of Florida; New Gale Reported On Way

FLOOD SITUATION IS GROWING WORSE

Fear Big Lake May Burst Through And Inundate Valuable Crop Lands; Ask For Aid

(International News Service)

TAMPA, Fla., Aug. 14.—Buffeted by a series of small hurricanes in the past few days, the Florida west coast today took on the aspects of a besieged city.

Its breath hardly recovered from the last storm, a new gale was reported sweeping up the northwestern coast today, adding to the toll of damage in private property and public utilities.

Meantime the menace of floods caused several hundred persons living in the lowlands on the west coast to abandon their homes. High tides were reported between St. Petersburg and Tampa.

The flood situation in the Lake Okeechobee region was probably the worst in Florida today. There 50 families were reported marooned and destitute, and Red Cross workers were trying to reach them to give aid.

River Rises Rapidly

Steady rains in the past few days, which accompanied the storms, added to the seriousness of the situation. The flooded Kissimmee river contin-

Negro Confesses Slaying Teacher And Robbing Her

Chicago Negro, Arrested In Evanston, Ill., And Admits Killing School Teacher

ROBBERY MOTIVE, NEGRO DECLARES

Trace Killer Through Wrist Watch Sold To Youngster; Conceal Prisoner

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 14.—Extra precautions were being taken today to prevent mob violence from snuffing out the life of David Shanks, Chicago negro, who confessed late yesterday to the murder of Miss Jennie Meta Constance, 42-year-old Peoria school teacher and summer student at Northwestern University.

Evanston's "worst crime in a decade" was solved when detectives traced a wrist watch, which had been torn from the school teacher's arm after the attack, to Shanks. He was working in a shoe-shining parlor when arrested. Confronted with the evidence, Shanks said: "Yes, I did it."

Lynching Feared

He was rushed to police headquarters, where, before citizens generally knew of his arrest, his confession was taken down in detail. He was then hid away in an outlying district as a precaution against lynching.

When it was definitely established that Miss Constance had worn a watch the night of her disappearance, police notified all jewelers to be on the lookout.

Early yesterday a white boy took a lady's wrist watch to a Devon avenue, jeweler to have it reinitialed. It bore the letters J. M. C., representing Jennie Meta Constance. The jeweler got in touch with police and the watch was identified as that of Miss Constance.

Detectives hid in the store and just before closing time yesterday the youth came back. He was arrested and gave his name as Lebart Bastian. He said his father ran a shoe-shining parlor and that a negro bootblack, who worked for his father, sold him the watch for $1.17.

Slayer Confesses

The youth led the detectives to his father's shop. There the boy pointed out Shanks. He calmly admitted his guilt.

Miss Constance, head of the Eng-

Hopi Indians Start Gathering Snakes To Stage Annual Dance

Four Bands Of Hopi Indians Start In All Four Directions To Hunt Reptiles

Public May Witness Famous Snake Dance, But Are Barred From Preliminaries

(International News Service)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 14.—Clad only in loin clothes of buckskin, their naked bodies glistening with mineral red, streaked with black and white, four bands of Hopi Indians at sun-up today left the sacred "Kiva" of a sun-parched plateau in northern Arizona.

Blessed by the tribal priests, they set forth, carrying a plenteous supply of sacred meal. One band journeyed north, one south, one east and another west.

Hunting Snakes.

They were the snake hunters, who for the next four days will hunt and gather hundreds of rattlers and other poisonous vipers, to be used in the weird ceremonial dances which each year attract increasing hundreds of tourists and students of Indian customs to the scene of the celebration.

To all the preliminary ceremonies including the snake hunt, the white man is barred. None may enter the sacred precincts of the "Kiva", or ceremonial chamber, unless he is a member of the tribe, but the snake dance, the climatic feature, is by tradition a public function.

Holding the reptiles between their teeth the holy dancers go through a series of strange contortions and maneuverings, swaying and twisting their painted bodies to the rhythm of tomtoms. As they squirm and step about, they chant in strident tones, varied by a wailing monotone, the prayer which is a supplication to the "sky father" for copius rain and bounteous harvest.

Plan Aero Club To Boost Flying In This District

Three New York Pilots And Planes Are Now At Local Airport

GALLAGHER AND GREY REACH CITY

Join Capt. Smith, Who Arrived Several Days Ago; See Developments Here

Organization of an aero club among those already interested in aviation and those whom it is hoped to interest in this district in the immediate future, is the purpose of Jimmy Gallagher and Lieutenant Bill Grey, well-known New York pilots, who dropped into this city last night about 7:20 o'clock from Curtiss field, New York, landing in the former's biplane at McMillin field on the Harlansburg road.

Lieutenant Grey was surprised and delighted on landing here to meet an old friend, Captain Ronald Smith, who is spending several weeks here with Robert C. Love, who recently purchased an Avro Avian plane.

Boosting Aviation

Messrs. Gallagher and Grey plan to remain here the balance of the summer, and possibly longer, in the interests of aviation here. They are not promoters in any sense of the word, but come here, as they have elsewhere, to stir up enthusiasm in the art and science of flying. They have had considerable experience in the development of aero clubs and interest in the science of flying and the potentialities of commercial avi-

TO MAKE NEW ATTEMPT TO CLEAR RADIO CHAOS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Another effort to work out an equitable distribution of broadcasting frequencies on the North American continent will be made August 20 when American, Canadian, Cuban and Mexican radio authorities will confer here.

Commissioner O. H. Caldwell was today designated to represent the United States in the parley.

Radio broadcasting is expanding rapidly in the other countries as well as the United States. Listeners all over North America are demanding action which will eliminate the international interference.

Canada has six exclusive wave lengths and shares time on six others, broadcasters there, however, with about 80 stations in operation, have represented to this government that they are entitled to 12 exclusive channels. In addition the Canadians desire to share time on a number of other waves.

Neither Cuban nor Mexican stations have exclusive channels and as a consequence there is considerable interference between the Latin-American stations and those in southern and eastern United States. Cuba has nearly 50 stations operating in the broadcast band between 200 and 550 meters, while there are 18 stations in Mexico, one in Haiti and one in Salvador.

There are approximately 900 stations operating in North America between 200 and 550 meters, with but 95 wave channels available.

Hoover Plans To Use Business Ideas For Farmers' Aid

Believes "Big Business" Methods Are Needed As First Aid In Farm Relief

HOOVER TO VISIT SENATOR CURTIS

Presidential Candidate To Leave For Washington Thursday Night

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Aug. 14.—The injection of "big business" methods into the conduct of American agriculture will be Herbert Hoover's first contribution to the relief of the farm problem, should he be elected President, it was learned here today.

Convinced that agriculture has suffered unnecessary losses through slack business methods, Hoover will seek to organize American farmers into a series of gigantic co-operatives, one for each major crop, in an effort to eliminate waste, improve marketing conditions, reduce cost of production and distribution and increase farm profits. He is certain, it was learned, that proper business regulation of agriculture will go far toward eradicating agricultural depression.

Farm Relief Program

The Hoover farm relief program, however, will include recommendation to Congress for the creation of a farm board, backed by at least $250,000,000 of government funds, but regulated and cotrolled by farmers themselves, for the handling of surplus crops. In his acceptance speech he also pledged the development of inland waterways to reduce transportation costs, and the equalization of tariff rates on farm products to give the farmer the same protection enjoyed by industry.

The Republican nominee declared the "greatest problem" of the farmer, though, was to devise "some plan, along co-operative lines that will enable him to protect his surpluses."

Hoover has become convinced that faulty distribution and waste caused the farmers millions of dollars in losses every year. He will attempt to eliminate it by getting the farm-

Mrs. Humphreys Tells Of Hurricane Damage

In a letter to The News, Mrs. K. C. Humphreys of St. Cloud, Florida, tells of the damage done by the recent hurricane in the vicinity of her home city. The letter follows:

The News, New Castle, Pa.:

I do not know how much prominence your news dispatches gave our small hurricane of the past week but am glad to report, after rounding up the New Castle contingent that all escaped bodily hurt. The McKays sustained some financial loss, the extent of which will not be known until later.

The wind freakish always, lifted a part of the roof of their warehouse, carried it over their dwelling and let it down without damaging the latter. As they were carrying a considerable stock of furniture for the fall trade their loss may be heavy, owing to the rain.

No heavy damage is reported in St. Cloud but few escaped entirely. Broken windows, patches off roof, broken or uprooted shade trees are everywhere. The worst that I have seen so far is the Pennsylvania hotel building in which the picture theater is located. Both back and front porches were carried away, the roof badly damaged and much of the coping blown down. Jim Ellis garage on Tenth street had half the roof lifted

Section Of India Is Threatened By Disastrous Flood

Breaking Of Ice Dam In Indus Valley Causes Flood Waters To Sweep Territory

THOUSANDS FLEE AS WATER ADVANCES

(International News Service)

SIMLA, India, Aug. 14.—The mighty flood which is raging down the Indus Vally from the broken ice dam in the Shyok river on top of the Karakoran mountains in Northeast India threatened today to cut off the entire frontier region from the rest of the country.

The torrent was rushing towards Skardo and is expected to reach the Attock railway bridge spanning the Indus tonight. Engineers are working feverishly to strengthen the bridge as its collapse would isolate the frontier region.

Villages below the flood level are evacuated.

Frightened villagers bearing as much of their household goods as they can carry upon their backs jam the roadways leading from the danger zone. A stream of refugees is pouring into Peshawar.

Elaborate precautionary measures have been taken by the police and soldiers to get the people out of the district in the path of the flood. Royal air force aviators swept down the Kabul valley warning villages along the river.

Some aviators kept pace with the flood notifying the authorities of its progress.

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 14.—A mighty chain of signal fires, stretching 140 miles along the ridges of the Karakoram Mountain range to Leh in the Himalayas, today gave warning to thousands of persons to flee from their homes to avoid death in the rushing torrent from the broken Shyok river ice dam.

Voters Settling Warm Primary Battles In Ohio

Prohibition Is One Of Leading Issues In Nomination Of Candidates Today

SENATOR FESS IS WITHOUT OPPOSITION

Both Republican And Democratic Primaries Have Notable Contests For Offices

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 14.—Prohibition held the center of the stage in Ohio today as 900,000 voters began their march to the primary election booths to nominate state, county and judicial candidates for the November election.

Though the ballots make no reference to the prohibition bugbear, the Anti-Saloon League has endorsed or opposed primary candidates on both sides of the political fence for nearly every state office, and has been in the thick of one of the hottest primary campaigns since 1914 when the late U. S. Senator Frank B. Willis won the G. O. P. nomination and later defeated former governor James M. Cox, Democratic standard bearer.

Fess Is Unopposed

U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, G. O. P. keynoter at the national convention at Kansas City and candidate for re-election is one of the few unopposed on the Republican ballots, while Congressman Theodore E. Burton, of Cleveland, and Jacob S. Coxey, (Coxey's Army leader) of Massillon, are two of five candidates contesting for the right to run for the place of the late F. B. Willis in the U. S. Senate. Six gubernatorial candidates and nine aspirants for the lieutenant governorship appear on the Republican primary ballots.

Bitter Battles

On the Democratic side the fight has been as bitter though only 28 candidates are trying for the nine state offices, while 36 Republicans are in the primary race.

Democrats of national repute on the ballots are: Peter Witt, Cleveland, Laborite, candidate for governor; Francis Poulson, Cleveland, attorney for Velma West, confessed hammer murderess of her husband, J. Edward West, candidate for the attorney generalship; Charles E. Wharton, president of the National Farm Federation, and George White, Marietta, National Democratic committeeman, candidates for U. S. Senator.

Aged Polar Flier Planning New Trip

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Although 67 years of age Dr. Fridtjof Nansen the famous explorer who in 1922 was awarded the Nobel Peace prize is contemplating a flight to the North Pole.

According to information published in the Contemporary Review, an airship is being built for him in Germany. The ship will have a lifting capacity of 100 tons and will be especially constructed for Polar work.

In 1893-96 Dr. Nansen in his famous ship the Fram, later used by Capt. Amundsen, reached within 228 miles of the North Pole.

Mrs. F. E. Crawford, 425 Sheridday avenue, has returned from a three weeks visit in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Ocean City, N. J.

Now Paul Revere was a bonny lad, you've heard of friend Paul of course, he's the chap who got up in the middle of the night, to take him a ride on a horse. And he rode all night so the story goes, to warn all the folks about, that the British were coming, and didn't they think that the folks should be getting out. That ride of Paul's was a thrilling one, and while I can't say how far, its a cinch he'd have done it in shorter time if he'd borrowed his neighbor's car. But he didn't do that, he just mounted a horse, and at midnight he rode away, and he gets a line in the history book, its seventy-seven today.

Seeks Increase In Capital Stock

Bessemer Securities Gains Control Of Two Michigan Cement Plants

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—Interests in the Standard Slag Co. headed by L. A. Beeghly president of Youngstown have acquired control of cement companies with aggregate capacity of 6,000,000 barrels per annum. These companies are operated through subsidiary interests the holding company for which is the Bessemer Securities Co.

A special stockholders meeting of Bessemer Securities has been called for August 27 to act upon a proposal to increase capital stock from 120,000 shares of non-par value to 200,000 shares. Substantially all of the original authorization was issued at $30 a share. Proceeds were invested in preferred stock of the Federated Portland Cement Co, which operates a large plant at Buffalo and in Class B stock of Bessemer Limestone and Cement Co. operating at Besemer, Pa.

Recently Bessemer Securities purchased a large block of stock in the Peerless Egyptian Cement Co. of Detroit which operates one plant of 1,600,000 barrels capacity a year in Detroit and another of 1,150,000 barrels per annum at Port Huron Mich. The Youngstown company is assuming control of both properties.

Bessemer Securities proposes to sell between 25,000 and 30,000 shares of the new authorization at $30 a share. Proceeds will be used to pay for stock purchased in the Detroit company. Bessemer Securities is likewise planning to enter the Chicago territory.

Bessemer Limestone and Cement Co. officers advise that the company is having a good year and its earnings are considerably in excess of last year. Federal Portland Cement Co. is making a good record in this, its first full year of operations. Business and prospects for the rest of the year indicate that it will be able to earn and pay substantially all of the accumulated dividends now accrued on preferred stock owned by Bessemer Securities and the dividends to accrue this year.

Inspect Country School Buildings

MERCER, Pa., Aug. 14.—An inspection of school buildings in the rural districts of Mercer county is being made by an official of the State Health Department.

School houses where repairs were ordered during the last year following a similar inspection trip were carefully checked over to determine whether the demands of the department had been complied with.

The inspector reports that so far as it was possible the repair programs had been carried out by the various boards on whom the orders had been imposed.

In many instances the school houses are not up to the standard that might be desired, but the finances of the district will not permit an extensive repair program.

In some cases also the condition was one that should have been remedied before.

Flames Destroy Five Horses And Fourteen Autos

Fire At Sistersville, W. Va., Does Damage Of $25,000 Early Today

(International News Service)

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 14.—Five horses and fourteen automobiles were destroyed in a fire which early today swept a large storage building of M. J. Brady and sons here, damaged another building and threatened to spread to adjoining structures before the flames were brought under control. Damage was estimated at $25,000.

The storage building was destroyed, and the five horses perished before they could be reached by firemen. In addition to the automobiles, furniture, hay, feed and transfer equipment also were destroyed.

The Elks club suffered $1,000 damage. Fire companies from New Martinsville and Paden City were summoned to aid in combating the flames.

Police Station Will No Longer Announce Time

Beginning Wednesday morning, August 15, at 8 o'clock, the practice of giving the correct time at the police station over the telephone will be discontinued, states Sergeant James Steiner.

While they are not ordered to give the correct time by the Chief of Police, the sergeants have been doing it in the past merely to accommodate the people. However, these calls so jam the police phones that it can be done, no longer.

Hence comes the warning from the police that all citizens of New Castle should be sure to wind their clocks at night.

HOOVER PLANS TO USE BUSINESS IDEAS FOR FARMERS' AID

ers to organize nationwide co-operatives to handle market, distribution and production problems—just as furniture makers, steel manufacturers, oil producers and other business men do—Hoover believes half of their losses could be eliminated. At least, he will give this method of relief a test—providing the farmers agree, as the government itself would only participate in an advisory capacity.

Farm Board Project

The nominee also believes that his proposal for a farmer-controlled, federally-financed farm board will solve the surplus crop problem. He told of the crash of cotton prices a year ago and declared it was his opinion that the cotton crop could have been stabilized had 11,000,000 bales been withdrawn from the market. He will ask Congress, should he be elected, to provide funds for just such a situation.

As he said in his speech, Hoover believes the farm problem is the most serious one facing the country today. He pledged himself publicly, and in private conversations pledged himself anew, to "bend every effort toward finding a solution for it", should he be chosen President.

The nominee planned to rest at his home here all day. He called off a proposed fishing trip to a nearby lake so he could answer some of the hundreds of congratulatory telegrams sent him on his acceptance speech. He will leave here Thursday night on the return trip to Washington.

He will spend Monday in Topeka as the guest of his runningmate, Senator Charles Curtis, and go on to reach West Branch, Iowa, in time to have breakfast at his birthplace next Tuesday morning. He will spend Wednesday and Thursday in Cedar Rapids, Ia., and probably reach Washington Saturday, August 25.

off and there is some damage to the electric plant. Some lights were turned on down town last night but we in the suburbs, are going to bed by the light of oil lamps or candles.

Kissimmee is said to have fared worse that St. Cloud. The storm is not reported south of West Palm Beach or north of Titusville and little west of Lakeland.

Unlike our northern summer storms which strike suddenly and depart as swiftly as they come, these tropic disturbances approach slowly, increase in intensity and never seem to want to stop. I recall two unusual things in connection with the approach of this storm. The first was on Tuesday afternoon when we had a brilliant rainbow outlined against a clear blue sky. There were scattered clouds flying at the time but the bow which was about one eighth of the arc of the circle in extent was visible for quite a while in a clear sky. I did not see it touching a cloud at all. The second was the number and brilliancy of the stars on Tuesday night.

The constellation stood out of the clear background which was studded with countless stars and across the heavens the milky way stretched as a band of light. At bedtime the scene was most brilliant but next morning the sun was hid behind a black cloud bank in the east and the storm developed rapidly.

Much damage is reported to the fruit. Various estimates put the loss to grape fruit from 25 to 50 per cent with oranges and tangerenes much lighter. The grapefruit crop being heavy and fruit little more than half grown may not have suffered the hurt that is apparent now. Some grove men are of the opinion that it will amount to little more than a thinning and will result in larger fruit. Near the coast the trees seem to have suffered more than here. The area affected might be bounded by Jupiter and Titusville on the east; DeLand and Haines City on the north; Lakeland and Winter Haven on the west and Lake Wales on the south. Sebring Bartoir and Arcadia seem to have escaped the wind. The section south of us toward Lake Okechobee being flat is flooded.

Keenansville was at first reported destroyed but later reports are that they fared about the same as the rest of us except that they are flooded. Various reports put the rainfall from 7 to 15 inches and much of this from just south of Orlando drains towards Okechobee through East and West Lakes Tehopekaliga, Cypruss Lake Lake Kissumnee. This country is very sparsely settled but there are immense numbers of cattle ranging which are endangered. An estimate of the damage to the cattle industry is impossible now but it will be great Cattlemen are carrying extra large herds and the shortening up of the pasture due to the floods will be a serious situation for them to meet even should the cattle escape drowninf in the inundated sections.

The weather is still threatening with showers several times a day but to date the second disturbance coming from the East Indies and for which the weather bureau issued storm warnings a couple of days ago has not materalized. We are hoping it may spend itself over the ocean.

ued to rise, inundating hundreds of acres of rich farm land and overflowing on the highways.

Citizens of Okechobee have asked the national Red Cross to give aid to farmers along the Kissimmee and Taylor's creek who were rendered destitute by the high water.

The Miller brothers 101 ranch is in this section and some of its cattle was believed to have perished. Carcasses of cattle have been seen floating down the Kissimmee.

If Lake Okeechobee goes out, the damage to surrounding property would be incalculable. There are thousands of acres of sugar cane land and stock farms and houses on the banks of the lake. Drainage engineers, however, were confident that the lake would not overflow. Last reports gave the level at 17 feet, within two feet of flood stage.

Boca Grande and Gasparillo were hardest hit by last night's storm, and the damage suffered there was the same as in other Florida cities hit by the series of storms in the past week. Telephone and telegraph communication was impaired and in Boca Grande the railway station roof was torn off in the 80-mile gale.

Storm Approaching.

(International News Service)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 14.—Florida's coast between Pensacola and Apalachicola will feel the effects of the tropical hurricane which is sweeping inland sometime late today or tonight, the local weather bureau revealed today.

Apalachicola, with a barometer reading of 29.60 and a wind of 30 miles an hour seemed to be in the direct path of the storm. It was expected that the blow would extend westward and reach Pensacola, where a strong wind and a falling barometer were reported.

Mobile had a steady wind from the north indicating that the storm was east of that place. Tampa reported a 26-mile wind and rain during the night.

Much suffering was reported along the west coast due to heavy rains which accompanied the blow. The lowlands from Tampa north and south for miles was reported under water, but the damage so far was suffered mostly by farmers and public utilities.

PLAN AERO CLUB TO BOOST FLYING IN THIS DISTRICT

ation, being pioneers along those lines, and plan to develop all these sides of flying in this community. They will make their headquarters at the McMillen field on the Harlansburg road.

Lieutenant Grey took up the flying game some years before the World War, and after serving two years with the French air forces in the war, joined the American forces in France and also saw service with the flying forces of this country. He is a pilot of widely known ability in New York and should add much to the flying activities of this district.

Ideal for Flying

In speaking of the trip from New York to this city, during which they made stops at Middletown, Pa., and Rogers field, Pittsburgh, Lieutenant Grey stated that he had never before realized until now how many mountains there were in Pennsylvania. He said that this section is especially delightful from a scenic viewpoint and ideal for flying. He remarked that he was glad to find such a finely located field in this district and also the finely marked roof, with the arrow directing him to the McMillen field. He stated that this city should see to it that some public building or buildings be marked in this way, as it would tend to invite more flyers to stop at the field here.

Jimmy Gallagher is also a pilot with many years of experience. He is president of the Brooklyn Aero Club. The McMillen field, where they landed, he stated, is a much better field than Rogers field, Pittsburgh, in his estimation. He has just returned from a couple of years spent in India, where he did considerable flying.

It is the intention of these men to conduct cross-country sightseeing flying trips from this city and throughout the district, which they claim is one of the finest for that purpose that they have found.

With the advent of these pilots and the fact that there are a number of others already flying here, there is strong indication of this city being placed on the air map to a very great extent in the near future.

tons of water swept with a roar of thunder down the Indus valley from the mountains, spreading desolation in its path. As this gigantic tidal wave crashed its way toward the Kashimir plains municipal and military authorities united in measures to warn the villages in the path of the torrent.

Inhabitants Flee

The dam was upon the crest of a mountain wall, 17,000 feet high, which gave it a tremendous impetus.

An ice barrier had dammed an artificial lake blocking the Shyok river on the top of the Karakoran mountains for miles.

In addition to the flaming beacons couriers were sent posthaste by airplane and railway train to warn the people in the lower Indus valley. For some time the ice barrier had been growing weaker and the collapse did not take the authorities entirely by surprise.

The glacier lake was in an isolated position, being 140 miles from the nearest telegraph line.

TO HONOR TWO DONORS OF CLUB CADDIE HOUSE

While it is stated on good authority that neither Dr. Perry or Dick are worrying much about the actuel outcome of the tournament it is confidentially reported that there is a little side issue between these leaders which is sometimes called a bet and which depends on the outcome.

It is said that Dick Dana has put up a 1921 moled Buick masterpiece against Dr. Perry's brand new Buick and the winner is to take all, that is the captain of the winning team will have two perfectly good machines. And the winner is to give every member of the Field club a ride.

Seriously speaking however the affair is designed as a token of esteem to the two gentlemen who gave the caddy house to the Field club and an effort is being made to have every member possible especially those who enjoy the game of golf and who will have direct benefit of this needed improvement.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey will preside at the banquet and the smoker and due recognition will be given the two members of the club who are responsible for this improvement.

Dr. Straton Says He'll Prosecute For Liquor Sales

Informed Liquor Is Sold At Old Hotel He Recently Bought In New York State

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Although Dr. John Roach Straton, militant clergyman, expressed indignation when informed that liquor was freely sold at his newly purchased Greenwood Lake hotel, and asserted emphatically that he would bring vigorous prosecution of William Hecht, lessee of the Orange county resort, he had taken no steps today to lay the matter before either county officials or federal authorities in Orange county or New York City.

Greenwood Lake is about 50 miles from New York. Ten days ago Dr. Straton bought the old hotel. Hecht held a lease on it and Dr. Straton said he told him everything must be clean and within the law in the management of the Greenwood Lake hotel. Hecht had told the clergyman that liquor was sometimes sold at other of the hotels in the neighborhood.

It was brought to the attention of the clergyman, who is spending his vacation at Greenwood Lake and plans establishment of a "Religious Chautauqua" there, that a bottle of liquor was purchased recently at this hotel. Dr. Straton immediately announced he would seek prosecution of Hecht even if it meant padlocking the hotel.

"I would proceed against my own brother the same way if I found violation of the law," said Dr. Straton. "If this is true I will oust Hecht. I would be willing for the people of our Christian assembly to sleep in tents if necessary, if the hotel is padlocked."

109th Infantrymen Make Best Scores

Men Of 110th Regiment Lose To Infantrymen Of Northeastern Penna.

(International News Service)

CAMP HENDERSON, MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 14.—From scores made public today by Colonel George E. Kemp, range officer in charge of the rifle range, it was disclosed that the 109th Infantry Regiment of Northeastern Pennsylvania, under Colonel Robert M. Vail, outshot the 110th Regiment, of Western Pennsylvania, commanded by Colonel John Aiken, by a large margin.

The 109th qualified 14 experts, nine sharpshooters and 55 marksmen, while the 110th qualified six experts, seven sharpshooters and 45 marksmen.

High individual score of the competition was captured by Lieut. Dale C. Martin, of Indiana, of the 110th, with a score of 238 out of a possible 250. Two soldiers of the 109th with a score of 236 tied for second place. They were Lieut. Reynolds, of Company B, Scranton, and Private Schroedel, Company A, also from Scranton.

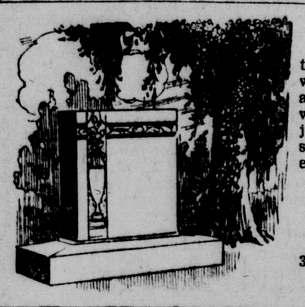

The six battalions of the 55th Infantry Brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Edward T. Martin, of Washington, Pa., participated in a variety of training phases today.

The third battalion of the 109th, under Major John J. Kennedy, of Scottdale, marched off to engage in a battalion combat problem and bivouac in the field over night. These battalions are the last contingents to take up this problem which every unit of the 28th Division has gone through.

Other battalions of the brigade fired the rifle, pistol and machine gun, practiced with the bayonet and grenade and engaged in infantry drill.

"We will win," says a slangy politician; "and how!" Senate committees are interested in that "how" part, too.

Our last suggestion for the Louvain inscription: "Destroyed when the world was crazy; variously inscribed during a relapse."

Tunney Wedding To Occur In Romantic Sunny Italy

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Under the romantic skies of sunny Italy Gene Tunney will marry the beauteous Mary Josephine "Polly" Lauder.

As a pleasing interlude to the former pugilist's walking tour through Europe with Thornton Wilder, the novelist, the marriage ceremony will be performed far from the prying eyes of an inquisitive American public, it was learned today.

"Gentleman Gene" will sail August 16. Miss Lauder, heiress to the millions her grandfather made with Andrew Carnegie will sail at a later date.

And so was confirmed the report that Gene would not marry before his departure for foreign shores. This had already been reported on authority of members of a group of important personages who banqueted the Neophyte social registerite at one of those terribly exclusive dinners.

Just what time Gene and Wilder are expected to arrive in Italy is not known. But it is presumed that the former heavyweight champion will insist on the shortest route to that country. There had been a report that the wedding would take place in scotland, or that the couple might wait until next winter and be married in the United States.

HEROES

A PUBLISHER of public school supplies has happily chosen from Longfellow an inspirational verse for the cover of a pupil's report book in wide usage. The quotation so appropriately employed is:

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us,
Footprints on the sands of time."

Hitching your wagon to a star means making a model of some great man or woman and then perseveringly striving to emulate your ideal. Knowing the great traits of great men we unconsciously acquire them for ourselves. For the child in school there is no stronger urge than the image of some great man or woman, living or dead.

Unfortunately, young people of the formative age sometimes choose their model unwisely. Bandits, pirate chiefs and other unscrupulous adventurers too often are the appointed heroes of the adolescent age. When these are not worshipped by youth for their crimes and atrocities but for their daring deeds and adventuresome spirit they are not to be discounted as valuable incentives to growing boys but their place should be taken by D'Artagnans, who have all the courage without the rascality of the others.

In a peace-loving country such as ours it is noteworthy that the world's military leaders occupy the topmost pedestals in the hero-worship of boyhood. A place in history as a warrior and soldier is a passport into the hearts of young America. It is not that George Washington was the "Father of his Country" and a great patriot but that he was a brave soldier that establishes him as a hero in the minds of American boys. The same holds true with great many adults who have not lost the romanticism of youth.

We can all benefit from following in the footsteps of a great man but let us choose our model with care.

RENEWED SEARCH FOR ITALIA VICTIMS

RETURN of the Russian icebreaker Krassin to the Arctic Ocean after repairs have been completed at Bergen, Norway, will bring to full force the organized search being made for survivors of the Italia expedition and of the Amundsen-Gilbaud rescue party or their remains. Hope for finding these men alive is backed by reasonable experience asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. Parties of whalers and explorers have been cast away and have lived on ice floes for many months while their floating homes drifted hundreds of miles—in two cases of record more than a thousand. Only five years ago the crew of the Danish hunting ship Teddy, wrecked in the ice off the northeast coast of Greenland, drifted on a floe all the way south to a point near Angmagsalik, where it escaped to the mainland and reached the settlement without difficulty.

The members of the Italia crew carried off in the wreck of the balloon had plenty of equipment; and if they reached one of the many islands in the region of the wreck they could survive indefinitely. If Amundsen and his companions survived the crash of their plane, there is every reason to believe that they have managed to maintain themselves through the thorough knowledge of the Arctic possessed by several members of the party. The cruiser Strasbourg, with a French Admiral aboard, is directing a five-ship search, combing the area between Spitzbergen and Franz Joseph Land; and the Russians have a ship cruising among those islands at the present time.

It is estimated that such explorations can be carried on until late September; and the programme outlined, which will avoid duplication and will endeavor to cover the whole area of possibility, is a most encouraging harbinger of success. The French, Russian, Swedish and Norwegian Governments deserve the highest praise for their efforts to locate and aid these men, who may be in desperate straits, or to determine the fate which destroyed them.

FEWER CRIPPLES

CRIPPLES are a relative rarity in the United States, compared with the rest of the world. There are only 115,000 physically blind persons in America. The legless are seldom seen and a man having one member missing is a curiosity. The same is true of the deformed. But American visitors abroad return with stories of the hordes of blind, crippled and deformed met with everywhere.

One of the principal reasons for the greater numbers of the physically handicapped abroad is war. Few countries in Europe and Asia have not participated in more than one war within the time of the living generations.

Another cause for the comparative scarcity of deformity and of cripples in this country is the higher standard of sanitation. Skilled medical service, for all and rapid advances in surgery are preventing and curing the diseases which leave their victims maimed. Many persons are made blind or otherwise crippled through industrial occupations, but this, too, has been reduced to a minimum in the United States by the introduction of safeguards in all factories.

In the great numbers of maimed and disfigured abroad there is a lesson for this country and in every cripple at home there is a lesson in safety first for every man, woman and child in America.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:00. Sun rises tomorrow 5:10.

Tomorrow is Old Timers day in New Castle. Welcome, Old Timers!

We heard some one say that women could never get into automobiles if they wore the same long skirts of some years ago. Right along that line we recall the ladies getting on big high horses and into buggies with very high steps when they wore em long. Some of the short skirted ones could not do those things now without more or less embarrassment to those who looked on.

James B. Borland, editor of the Franklin News-Herald, came to New Castle yesterday. He found the Hints and Dints Man at the meeting of the Rotary club at The Castleton. When he was introduced to the club we thought it was President Coolidge or Hoover who was being presented judging by the hand "Jim" got. "Jim" will have his new book off the press about Sept. 1. It is entitled "Fifty Years In The Newspaper Game." From what we hear it is going to be a great book. We visited all afternoon and took him out to Cascade park in the evening. We just loved to hear him rave about the beauties of that place. And he knows nature when he sees it and can tell all about everything about the great outdoors. We are always glad to see our old friend at our home and the only thing we are peeved about is that he does not come often enough.

"So you asked Helen to marry you?" asked a man of the other.

"Yes, but I didn't have any luck," replied his friend. "She asked me if I had any prospects."

"Why didn't you tell her about your rich uncle?"

"I did. Helen's my aunt now."

During the past few years some Democratic senators have raised some terrible fusses and investigations in Washington and those same chaps expected some political reward. Even the Democrats turned them down and they do not even get honorable mention from anybody. Some political bunk don't go very far.

The corned beef and cabbage talk interests us. However, back when mother put half a dozen heads of cabbage in the big cast iron pot made for that purpose and put in along with it half a smoked ham and cooked them together until they were done and all us kids gathered around and ate it all up with probably not much of anything else, we have never seen anything yet that tasted any better. Corned beef and cabbage isn't in it with that kind of a stew.

We were standing in front of The News office yesterday when a nice looking lady came along and stepped into a fairly good looking automobile that was standing at the curb. After she got seated she must have done something to the car because it gave a couple of snorts and there was a noise like half a dozen crow-bars falling on a cement road one at a time. Then the car started up and floated away down the street. The lady never batted an eye lid so this must be the way the car starts.

Automobiles sent from this country to foreign ports during June of this year were worth $45,851,775, or an increase of over fifty per cent of the amount sent during the same month last year. This country just has to have an outlet for it's products or we are sunk. The automobile is helping a lot.

With all his faults the sailor is a lot better off than the ordinary individual who has a wife in every court.

What About Usury?
13 Billions for Crime.
Gov. Smith and Farms.
Sam Buys a Palace.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Has President Coolidge noticed the Federal Reserve bank's activities in promoting usury?

The alleged desire is to discourage stock speculation. So-called "call money" with which the speculators gamble goes to 7 and 8 per cent.

Banks, whose business it is to make money for their stockholders, immediately raise their interest rates to men in legitimate business.

The country, bursting with money, is put on a hard times basis. What effect will that have on our prosperity? How does it impress President Coolidge, who comes from a state that does not like usury?

Is usury organized on a national scale, even against stock speculators, a thing that the government should tolerate? Was the Federal Reserve established to keep credit evenly abundant and promote prosperity? Or was it to be used, as it is used now, to help usurious money lenders to gouge business men? Banks, properly managed, are doing fairly well with dividends from 20 to 100 per cent a year, and extra stock disbursements.

Was it really necessary to add usury to the financial game?

It would have been cheaper to buy slaves at a fair price, instead of fighting the Civil war.

It would be cheaper now, to pension criminals, even high grade bootleggers and hijackers, rather than pay the cost of crime.

The Baumes commission says crime costs this country 13 billion dollars a year.

With that sum you could pay 1,000,000 criminals $13,000 each every year. Our home war against crime costs more than 20 times as much as our army and navy. Think that over.

Governor Smith declares against the equalization fee as a solution of the farm problem Like President Coolidge, he thinks the McNary-Haugen bill needs modification.

The governor says our government should control the sale of agricultural surpluses. "The cost to be borne by those benefited." Governor Smith tells the New York Times, frankly, "That he has no plan of his own for carrying out the principle of disposing of surplus crops, but will work out such a plan after election."

In the city of Paris a deed has been signed buying for the United States an expensive embassy. Now that Uncle Sam owns his ambassadorial palace in Paris, he will proceed, of course, to buy palaces in other European capitals, where gentlemen will live gorgeously as a reward for political services.

It would suit some old style Americans—Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, for instance—better if the American ambassador lived at a hotel, or paid rent for his own flat, and the money spent for new embassies were used for education here in the United States.

But, since our "democracy" is a good deal of a joke at home, it might as well be a joke abroad also.

Pope Pius recognizes the new government of China, hoping that "legitimate aspirations" may be fulfilled, predicting a great future for the Chinese nation.

Before any other nation sent emissaries to China, centuries before Peary visited the Japanese, the pope sent religious agents to China and other parts of Asia.

Marco Polo found Catholic priests ahead of him when he visited the great Khan that rode to war on four elephants chained together, the Khan that built the "stately pleasure dome."

For centuries the Chinese have protected carrier pigeons aganist hawks by fastening bamboo whistles to their tails. As pigeons fly the whistles whistle. Hawks keep away from such a strange bird.

The government, which supports 1,200 carrier pigeons in peace time, will also equip its birds with tail whistles. The Chinese, releasing great numbers of pigeons for pleasure, equip them with whistles of different pitch, and much enjoy that music.

If only pedestrians could pin to their coat tails a whistle to frighten automobiles.

The population of New York City, the census bureau says, is now 6,024,761, an increase in 20 years of 2,587,000.

How long will the Leviathan at the edge of the Atlantic hold supremacy?

One borough, Brooklyn, has a population greater than that of Manhattan, the old New York. Another borough, Queens, equals Los Angeles in population.

And, most important to its prosperity, in New York, the United States spends its "extra money". Tens of thousands from all over America are buying and spending in a little strip of stores, hotels and theatres, running north from Fourteenth street to Fifty-ninth street and east from Eighth to Lexington avenue.

That's what you might call a real tenderloin.

ARE YOU EDUCATED?

There are many tests of "How much do you know," some of them curious and fantastic. Most of them are tests of how sophisticated you are, as hardly anyone can be expected to tell the capital of Kamptchatka or to bound one of the rapidly fluctuating Balkan states.

Dr. Herman H. Horne, Professor of Philosophy and Education in New York University, has, however, formulated a series of Education Tests designed to help any person to appraise his educational attainments accurately.

Some of the questions of Professor Horne, and some which have occurred to me are indicated below:

Do I keep myself physically fit?

Am I functioning at the maximum of my efficiency or just getting along?

Is my body a servant or is it my master?

Do I earn a living for myself and my dependents or am I living on what some one else has learned?

Am I doing better every day or just going around machine like in a circle?

Am I more anxious to preserve my own personal liberty or secure the personal liberty of others?

Am I keeping old friends and making new ones, or is my circle of friends gradually becoming less?

Am I a suitable life partner for

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ALWAYS AT IT.

The citizens of these United States are very busy these days. Their imaginations are working overtime. A taxicab company, headed by an American, will begin service in Shanghai.

Shanghai is therefore on the eve of having its first modern taxicab service. A company of promoters, headed by an American, have recently formed a company for which a charter under the China Trade Act has been issued.

The authorized capitalization of the company is M$,1000,000 (approximately $500,000), divided into 100,000 shares of common stock at the par value of M$10 ($5) per share, at least 25 per cent of which must be fully paid up before the company may operate thereunder.

The company proposes to start operation with 100 new model taxicabs, 50 of which, it is claimed, will be on the streets of Shanghai by October 1, with expectations of placing 500 cabs on the streets within two years.

There may be a war in China, but American business does not worry about that.

PRIDE

If I could bring myself to see
This life as it was meant to be
From many a pang I might be free.

But oh I fret my years away
For trifling goals and trifling pay
And pride's commands from day to day.
I trade my strength for power and place.
The shadows of delight I chase
And make of life a silly race.

I think I must in fashion dress,
Must certain things of pride possess
To be accounted a success.

And yet I know these are vain,
That none of them will spare me pain
Or bring my lost ones back again.

I know the happiest man is he
Who plays the friend, and stops to see
God's loveliness where'er it be.

He loves the skies, the streams, the stars.
Knows Venus, Mercury and Mars
As well as yachts and motor cars.

Yet knowing this I rush along
Eyes blind to beauty; deaf to song
Merely to prove that I am strong.

BOLTING FORESHADOWS SHIFTING OF PARTY LINES

With the Presidential campaign just beginning, there has been to date enough formal bolting of prominent figures from one major party to another to inspire predictions that the 1928 shiftings of party allegiance will establish a record for modern American politics.

"Never, except in the break-up of the old Federalist-Democratic lines, and in the disintegration of the Whig party with the coming of the Republicans," says the Wichita Beacon (Ind. Rep.) "has a campaign been so chaotic. These should be interesting times these next three months." While observing that "so far there has been a fair amount of bolting," the New York Sun (Ind.) feels, however that there is "not so much as the country will see in years to come, assuming that the two major parties continue to write platforms so nearly like each other."

"Democratic leaders in the South may be somewhat concerned about the unusual amount of bolting which is being done this year," states the Roanoke World-News (Ind. Dem.). "But let them remember that the country today is normally Republican by a big majority; Al Smith's only chance for victory lies in this little game of bolting; Smith will lose a good many bolters in the South, and this won't affect the result; in the North he will gain as many, or more, and this may play havoc with the usual Republican majority in the electoral college."

The Springfield Union (Rep.), however, holds the view that "Governor Smith would have to go farther in his own state and in Massachusetts than Hoover would have to go in states like North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee. But there is one important difference to be considered," continues the Union. "In these southern and border states the Democratic vote is much more rigid than the Republican vote in some of the eastern states that Governor Smith hopes to win."

A new situation is emphasized by the Kansas City Post (Ind.) with the statement: "Many persons who faithfully go to the polls on election day are heard to say that they will not vote in November. On the other hand, a host of citizens who play golf on election day are planning to register this year. It is impossible to guess whether the 1928 Presidential vote will be unusually heavy or unusually light. That is what makes the campaign interesting." And the Haverhill Gazette (Ind.) believes that if a nominee's campaign "is that of a winning candidate, differences of opinion on issues will be forgotten in eagerness to be with a winner."

"The criss-crossing of party lines this year," according to the Miami Daily News (Dem.) "will probably be more extensive than in any national campaign since 1896. Some leave their parties because of personal grievances. More go because their parties happened to go against some idea to which they are most sensitively attached. If there were not such changes there would be no use in holding elections. One election, if nobody changed his mind, would do for all time."

The Santa Barbara Daily News (Dem.), commenting on an appeal to break party lines in favor of Governor Smith, remarks: "Party lines will be badly disarranged, but the breaks will not all be in places favorable to Tammany and it's candidate. On the contrary, the revolt of the women in at least a half dozen states will be sufficient to turn the balance against Smith."

"There is a stirring under the political terrain; the strata are shifting as never before in a two-party race," declares the New York Times (Ind.), adding: "When men of the McCormick or Raskob type make public proclamation of their change of party allegiance, it can be taken as assured that there are many hundreds of the same mind who do not speak out. This election should reveal curious deviations from form, and it is a rash prophet who will predict the result." Referring to the prohibition question and to the possible action by the wets, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch (Ind.) asserts: "One thing, it seems to us, is certain. The evasiveness, hypocrisy and smug casuistry with which the politicians of both parties have been dodging this issue must pass."

"Such a free ebb and flow of voters is calculated to render an old-fashioned political mechanic seasick," remarks the Springfield Daily News (Ind. Dem.), "but it ought to mean more effective and intelligent government." The Altoona Mirror (Ind.), believing that, "the chances are both parties will witness an unusual amount of bolting," assumes that "party ties in the majority of instances have become so very light and tenuous that they are seldom visible, except in seasons of unusual excitement."

"It has already become apparent," in the judgment of the Lynchburg News (Dem.), "that there will be more switching from old political moorings in this Presidential election than is usual, but it will not be the flopping of headliners which will determine the result. It will be the votes of the normal men and women who, individually, do not command much attention, but who collectively are the most important factor in American public life."

The support of Mr. Hoover by Vance C. McCormick of Pennsylvania, former Democratic chairman, is discussed by the Brooklyn Daily Eagle (Ind.) with special reference to prohibition, of which Mr. McCormick makes an issue: "Each candidate is left free as air (by his platform) to take what position he chooses to take about changes in the law," says The

Missing College Boys Believed Drowned At Sea

Give Up Hope Of Finding Four Wealthy College Boys Thrown Into Ocean By Sailboat

(International News Service)

WATCH HILL, R. I., Aug. 14.—Four college youths, missing since their sailboat capsized between the mainland and Fisher's Island, N. Y., were given up for lost today by searchers who had used airplanes and small craft in the hunt and who had been joined by the veteran boats of the coast guard.

The lone survivor of the sound tragedy, John M. Colohan of Chestnut Hills, Pa., picked up unconscious by George Adams, a Noank, Conn., fisherman, had recovered sufficiently in Westerly hospital to tell the dramatic story of how the little vessel capsized when the anchor was put overboard in a choppy sea, how efforts were made to right her, how he got to the keel of the overturned craft, how Trowbridge Cottrell, one of the amateur sailors, suddenly disappeared, how John McIlvain of Ardmore, Pa., son of the owner of the boat, started to swim ashore and was never seen again, and how he did not remember what became of the others—Joseph Scales of Louisville, Ky., and Lloyd Bankson of Philadelphia.

On Thursday, August 16, H. H. Kaufman, poultry specialist from Penn State college, will be in this city, according to the statement of H. R. McCulloch, county agent.

That evening at the farm of J. C. McClain in North Beaver township, the North Beaver Poultry club will have a meeting at 7 o'clock standard time.

Mr. Kaufman will be at this meeting and give a talk to the poultry club and visitors who wish to attend and will give a culling demonstration.

The demonstration of Mr. Kaufman, who is a recognized poultry authority throughout the country, will be interpolated with worth while explanations and remarks for poultry raisers.

Jail Breaker Is Again In Custody

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 14.—William Wesmiller, 20, McKean county jailbreaker, is back behind the bars again today.

Wesmiller was recaptured last night at the home of his brother-in-law, John Jordon of Lewis Run, by Sheriff Edgar L. Rhone. He was taken back to his cell in the county jail at Smethport from where he escaped Saturday.

The prisoner escaped through a hoax when he asked the jail attendant for permission to use the telephone. Granted the permission, Wesmiller walked by the telephone and into freedom.

Since his escape Saturday, Wesmiller has been dodging among his friends "here and there," he told Sheriff Rhone. Further questioning revealed that Wesmiller had been, among other places, at the home of an aunt in Rochester, N. Y.

Marshall Fund Total Is Growing

Small Contributions Being Made To Aid Unfortunate New Castle Boy

The Dale Marshall fund, which will be used in order that a 17 year old boy can regain his sight and hearing, has reached $110.50, according to a report made at noon today.

The fund consists of contributions left at the office of The News for the boy and will be used to defray standing doctor's bills and pay for an operation. It is hoped that the operation will enable the youth to see and hear again.

About one week ago, William Marshall of 7 South Jefferson street, appealed to the people through the columns of The News. The case is open for investigation. Contributions will be received at The News office.

The fund:

Lions Are Guests At Radiator Plant

Members of the New Castle Lions club journeyed to the local plant of the National Radiator company for their regular weekly meeting today and made an inspection trip of one of New Castle's largest industries, this afternoon.

The Lions gathered at the plant shortly after noon and were escorted through the works by competent guides.

At the close of the inspection trip the club members gathered on the lawn surrounding the company's offices where an experienced caterer of the organization had planned a bountiful picnic dinner. A short program of speeches was included.

The club expressed its appreciation at the dinner for the kind privilege the company officials had given them in allowing the members to visit one of the city's greatest industries.

Resurfacing Of Alleys Suggested

Council Clayton H. Reeves today suggested to colleagues during council meeting at city hall that portions of Apple Way and Market alley be resurfaced. Council did not take any formal action as Councilman Burns remarked that funds are low and the city will let several contracts for improvements Friday.

Reeves said the condition of the alleys is such that there are holes in the street and traffic is heavy.

Councilmen Davies and Burns agreed that most of the traffic is private.

Contracts referred to and some which may be let Friday will provide for a sewer in Cascade street; paving of Haus avenue, Second street and McMillen Way.

TO INVESTIGATE LACK OF WATER SERVICE FOR SEWER

Councilman D. O. Davies today informed councilmen in formal meeting at the City hall that he had received a complaint from Joseph Audino, Taylor street, to the effect that while the city had put a sewer in for Audino, he had been unable to get city water.

Councilman Burns said a similar situation existed in the Third ward and for several years a sewer had been put in but no water had been ordered in.

Council referred the Audino case to the city department of engineers.

BENEFIT GAME BEING PLANNED

As a friendly gesture to one of their players, the Olds baseball team has arranged a benefit game for Saturday, August 18, with the Hillsville team, the proceeds of which will go to Merle Brooks.

Some time ago Brooks slid into second base and broke his ankle. Hospital and medical expenses have been heavy and his teammates have hit upon the idea of a benefit game to assist in defraying those expenses.

Tickets are being sold and the response has been very good, according to those in charge of the affair. The game will be played on the Coaltown grounds and it is hoped that the attendance will be large. All of the receipts will go to Mr. Brooks.

Auto Pushes Cottage Over Into Old Canal

SUNBURY, Pa., Aug. 14—As the result of Horace Jones dozing while driving his car, Abraham Ellensberger and his cottage dropped 20 feet from its foundations down into the old Pennsylvania canal.

Jones fell asleep while driving, narrowly missed hitting three automobiles and then crashed into the little cottage of Ellensberger which was located on the bank above the abanded canal.

The impact shoved Ellensberger, cottage and all into the old canal bed. Ellensberger was unconscious when found and today is recovering in the hospital.

No Calls As Yet For Snake Serum

The Brazillian serum for snake bites which is being supplied through Love & Megown and Game Protector Frank N. Johnson by the state is not in demand in this district according to statements made this morning.

Despite the fact that the serum is on hand, there has been no calls for it and distributors are mighty glad of the fact too.

The serum renders snake bite comparatively harmless as it kills the effects of the snake poison.

Game Protector Frank Johnson carries a kit of it with him on all of his jaunts to the woods.

DAILY EDITORIAL DIGEST

Eagle. "The difference between the two up to date is only in the frankness of Alfred E. Smith." But the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin (Ind. Rep.) contends: "If the Democratic vote in this national campaign is declared by the Presidential candidate and his spokesman to be the voice of opposition to prohibition in a great referendum, dry Democrats have no means of showing their dissent other than by following the example of Vance McCormick."

The Scranton Times (Dem.), holds that Mr. McCormick was under political obligations to the wet voters of his party, and concludes as to his attitude: "When the convention got down to brass tacks at Houston it was revealed that McCormick and his group footed up a total of 5 1-2 votes out of 76 in the Pennsylvania delegation. At this minute they do not mean even that much, and between now and November they can be expected to grow in the manner proverbially ascribed to a cow's tail."

The Reno Evening Gazette (Ind. Rep.) agrees that occasional defections from the parties come in every election, but that paper maintains: "This year their weight is decidedly upon the Democratic side, and their effect will be seriously to shake the morale of the party's organization, which was none too solid at the start."

In view of the shifting lines, the St. Louis Times (Rep.) states that "the chief problem of the campaign will have to do with whether the Democratic party can stand the shock of reorganization on the eve of an election." The San Francisco Chronicle (Ind.) advises that "no one need count on beating Smith by breaking the solid South," although it agrees that the campaign "will be a fight," and assumes that "Governor Smith will fall as far short as Bryan did in his cross-of-gold campaign."

Train Disaster Is Averted By Farmer, American Flag Used

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—The engineer of a Wildwood-Philadelphia train was greatly surprised when he saw a farmer dramatically waving an American flag on the tracks ahead of him Monday near Swain, N. J.

He applied the emergency brakes, sending the passengers into a scrambled heap on the floors of the cars. When the commuters and train crew investigated they found the train had been saved from a serious wreck.

The farmer, John Arnheldt of Swain, had been walking along the tracks when he noticed the rails had spread badly. He looked around for something to wave as a signal to the engineer and spied an American flag on the site of an old carnival. He seized it and waved it aloft.

The passengers and train crew thanked the farmer for his act and gave him a purse of $120.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

NO GHOST!

"I have no idea how long we slept" continued Mr. Bobolink, "but suddenly I was wide awake, wife—you were poking me with the sharp edge of your wing.

"Of course I was and why? Because I was scared to death" Mrs. Bobolink took up the story. "I had heard such a strange wheezy noise. For a second I thought it was an owl and I knew I must warn husband and we must make our escape at once—Owl is one of our worst enemies and he would have found us there among the seaweed in no time—then as my eyes grew accustomed to the darkness I saw"—

"The queerest looking creature!" Bobolink cut in at this point. "It was standing by the edge of the inlet with its feet in the water, its funny head sunk between its shoulders and its beak pointing right straight at us.

"Wh-who are you?' called I and I remember the words stuck in my throat I was so scared, 'Are you a ghost?'

"The spooky thing replied in a deep hoarse voice:

"'Ghost nothing! I am the night watchman of the inlets of the sea!'"

Sonny-Bunny clapped his paws excitedly.

"Night watchman. Didn't Turnstone say something about one just as he left you-" squealed he.

"You are a good listener, Sonny-Bunny!" declared Bobolink. "Turnstone did! Of course I remembered it in a flash and my curiosity got the better of my fear.' I spoke again to the queer stranger.

"'What do you watch?' asked I.

"'Anything and anybody that ventures abroad in the night,' declared the fellow who, now that we had gotten over our fright seemed a pleasant enough chap.

"I can see in the shadows while most birds must have the light. Let anything that ventures within reach of my beak beware! On the shore or in the shallows which I catch is fair prey. Nothing has any right to fly or to swim by night and only meets its desert in my beak. I am on guard until day breaks. The blood of a prowler will be upon his own head.'

"We must have been mistaken. The fellow was not pleasant at all. How threatening his voice sounded. The stranger must have thought he'd frightened us for he tried to make his voice sound less harsh. Even so it seemed to us that there was something wicked about it."

"Done With Union" Declares Pittsburgh Coal Company Head

(International News Service)

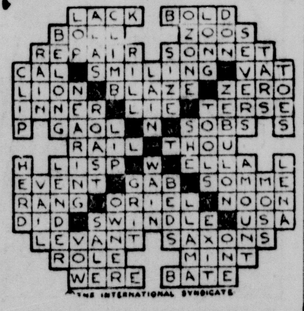

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—"We are not interested in the slightest degree."

This was the emphatic statement made by J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, when informed by International News Service that Patrick T. Fagan, president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, had issued invitations to western Pennsylvania coal operators to participate in a joint wage scale conference.

"We produced 215,000 tons of coal last week," Morrow said, "and we feel no necessity of having anything to do with the union. We are done with the union."

Phone Santa Claus

Seventy-Year-Old Farmer Builds, Maintains And Operates One-Man Telephone System Which Serves Four Towns

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WALNUT, Neb., Aug. 14.—An unusual telephone system was built and is owned, operated and maintained by E. L. Clark, 70, phone Santa Claus to four towns, who homesteaded a 40-acre sandy tract, that no one ever wanted some 20 years ago.

He saved $200 in checks and currency, borrowed $100 at a bank, bought 3,000 pounds of wire on the strength of making his venture pay, and built a telephone line in the hay country, a dozen miles from Page, 30 miles north of here. He has added to it until he has 75 miles of line.

Clark is his own lineman, trouble shooter, operator, in fact, he is the whole works. Forty-five patrons ring Clark's central direct, and he has connected the towns of Page, Alders, Walnut and Dorsey with his system. He has a repair wagon that is unlike any other ever built. It consists of the running gear and wheels of a flivver that he didn't enjoy driving, the body of one of the first autos to appear in this section, and a top of galvanized tin with sliding doors. He fitted it out with a tongue and drives a team of white horses.

His wife accompanies him often, and holds the horses while he climbs a pole.

Trees and fence posts, where available, serve as a medium for stringing wires. He hires no help. His wife and two daughters operate the switchboard when he is absent, and the telephone office is open at all hours, Sundays and holidays being no exception.

Clark charges subscribers $13 per year if they are prosperous, but when there is illness or a death in a family he does not charge anything that year. When a subscriber tries to beat him by not paying for two years, Clark takes the telephone out.

Clark was born in New York. The high spot of his life was when he drove a team of seven cattle, four oxen and three cows in a parade at Birmingham, N. Y., when Theodore Roosevelt was electioneering there for William McKinley. Roosevelt said he would remember that night as long as he lived.

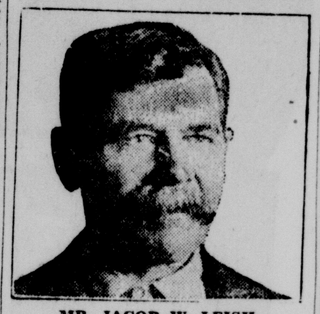

Clark has a six-acre field of corn, and gathers hay off his 40 acres. He says he bet Uncle Sam $14 in expenses against that little sandy piece of land that he could live on it five years. He won.

He is generally known as "Santa Claus" Clark because of his generous deeds, unselfish service, and long, white beard.

FARMER RELIEVED AFTER SUFFERING FIFTEEN YEARS

Spent Small Fortune For Medicines Before Trying Ten Herbs, Which Gave Relief, He Says.

"Ten Herbs relieved suffering that I had endured for fifteen years, after I had spent a small fortune for different medicines trying to find relief," was the recent statement of Mr. Jacob W. Leish, Route 1, Pulaski, Pa., (near

MR. JACOB W. LEISH

New Castle), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of men and women of all ages and stations in life.

"For many years I had lived on a very strict diet," continued Mr. Leish, who is a farmer. "I was unable to eat meat of any kind or any solid food. I was nearly always trying to vomit and was in continuous pain. The muscles of my legs would draw and twist, causing intense pain. My liver did not work properly, causing severe attacks of biliousness. I had to arise several times every night. I was so badly run-down that I had to give up my business as a butcher and retire to a small farm.

"A friend induced me to try Ten Herbs, and I found relief almost immediately. I have been relieved of gas and that feeling that I must vomit. My general health has been improved so much that the pains in my hips and the muscles of my legs have disappeared. Neighbors, who have known my condition, are very much surprised at my improvement, and have become users of your medicine. I cannot say too much for Ten Herbs. When one has gone through the suffering that I have and finally finds relief, he cannot adequately express his thankfulness. I think Ten Herbs is the best investment I have ever made. I gladly endorse your medicine to other sufferers."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results.

Lowden Pleased By Stand Taken By Herbert Hoover

Farm Relief Leader In Line To Support Republican Party Candidate

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—A statement from the Republican National committee headquarters here tonight says that former Governor Frank O. Lowden, "the acknowledged champion of the agricultural cause in America, spoke today from his summer home in Alexandria Bay, N. Y., in refernce to Hoover's pronouncement on agriculture in his speech of acceptance."

He authorized John Oglesby, director of the farm bureau of the Republican national committee, western division; David Shanahan, former speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives and manager of the Illinois state campaign, and Clarence F. Buck, Lowden's recent campaign manager, to make the following statements:

"I am much impressed by Hoover's acceptance speech as a whole. With reference to agriculture his frank recognition that the agricultural problem is the most urgent economic problem in our nation today is very heartening.

"I have stated, I think a thousand times, that a general acknowledgment that the problem exists would be half the battle. If there had been such recognition years ago the agricultural situation would be vastly different today.

"Mr. Hoover's aspirations to bring the farm population up to economic equality with other groups has my heartiest approval. I think, however it will be found practically that his proposed stabilization corporation can only attain the object which he hopes to accomplish if the cost to the corporation of stabilizing the price of any commodity be distributed over the commodity involved and not taken from the public treasury."

Boy Makes Some Detour; Arrives In New Castle On Bellaire-Wheeling Journey

After much thought, Frank Mours of Bellaire, Ohio, left home. He did it definitely and decisively. According to his youthful philosophy, there was nothing else to do. Twelve year olds have a habit of taking all the problems of the universe for their own. Frankie is no exception.

His father whips him when he comes home after eight o'clock in the evening, is Frankie's chiefest reason for leaving, he explained to the mayor this morning at police court. So he ran away. When asked where he was going, he was rather vague. He was going to see his grandmother in Wheeling. How he got to New Castle remained a mystery.

Boys should not run away, just because their fathers tan them when they come in after eight o'clock at night, was the contention of Chief of Police C. C. Horner. Frankie's father will be advised of his son's presence in New Castle. And Frankie's father will be advised to give his boy a darn good tanning when he gets home. At the present time, Frankie is having the run of the police station pending the arrival of his father.

Beetle Scouts To Tour New Castle

Crew Of Four Men To Investigate This City For Traces Of Japanese Beetle

A crew of four men from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will be in New Castle Thursday, Aug. 16, to inspect the city for Japanese beetle, according to Howard K. Henry, supervisor of Japanese bettle scouting, who is in the city today making plans for the intensive drive on the insect.

The four men will not go into the rural sections of the county, declares Mr. Henry, but will confine their efforts to New Castle, where they will make minute inspections of rose bushes, grape vines and smart weed for traces of the beetle.

A destructive pest of orchards, fruit, shade and ornamental trees, the beetle was accidentally introduced into this country from Japan. It has been found only in the eastern seaboard states.

The co-operating of the departments of agriculture are endeavoring to prevent further spread of the pest to devise means of its control and to introduce natural enemies from Japan.

C. Horner.

Post Cards From Europe

by William Ivy

OSLO, Aug. 14.—Norwegians refuse to abandon their belief that Amundsen and his companions of the French seaplane "Latham-47" are still alive and will yet be rescued.

It is currently believed here that hope need not be abandoned for another year at least and that if the fliers are not heard from this summer diligent efforts should be made to find them in the spring of 1929.

It is pointed out that Roald Amundsen has pulled himself and his followers out of many tight places in the past, and that granting the hypothesis of a safe landing somewhere in Spitzbergen, Franz-Josef land or on the neighboring ice, there is every chance that the men could subsist by hunting seal and bear as long as their ammunition lasts.

At the same time there is a clamor not only for more methodical search for the lost men—including those carried away to the eastward when the balloon of the "Italia" was ripped away from the car—but also for the establishment of permanent outposts in northeastern Spitzbergen and in Franz-Josef land.

Meteorological stations equipped with wireless at such points would be of the greatest practical and scientific importance, and would at the same time be extremely useful to explorers.

Contrary to popular belief, wintering in those lands is quite feasible.

It is conceivable that establishment of settlements would be commercially profitable, on account of the excellent yield in fox furs.

Recruiting of personnel would not be difficult, according to experienced Norwegians. What is chiefly lacking is money—a few hundred thousand dollars to defray costs of installation. It is suggested that such amounts could easily be raised by international co-operation.

Smith Believes Farm Leaders Supporting Him

No Announcement Made By Leaders After Conference; Smith Prepares Speech

By RAYMOND I. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Convinced that he has won the support of farm leaders from various parts of the country because of his stand on farm relief, Governor Al Smith today was to put the final touches on the address he will deliver one week from tomorrow in formally accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

Although the ten farm experts with whom he conferred for five hours at the executive mansion yesterday, left for their homes without announcing that they would publicly support him, the governor feels, according to his advisers, that eventually a majority of them will throw their strength to the Democratic ticket.

According to reports at the capitol today, two or three of the farm leaders made a futile attempt to induce Smith to take a decided stand in favor of the equalization fee as contained in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill which was vetoed by President Coolidge. The governor is said to have bluntly told them that he subscribed to the board principle of controlling surplus farm commodity and assessing the cost on the group to be benefited, but that he would not take any definite stand now as to the details of such a plan.

The governor is said to have told the leaders, however, that in the event of his election he would immediately call a conference of the farm experts of the country and that any plan recommended by the conference to bring about real farm relief would be approved by him with the recommendation that it be enacted by congress.

Governor Smith's acceptance speech which he will deliver from the east steps of the capitol, will contain about 10,000 words.

Farm relief and prohibition will be more extensively discussed by the governor than any other two issues, according to his confidents.

Most of Smith's time during the latter part of the present week will be taken up with conferences with Democratic leaders. Tomorrow he is to confer with Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., former secretary of the navy; Thursday, Senator Walter F. George of Georgia will be at the mansion, and on Friday he will discuss the western political situation with Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.

World's Famous Checker Player Taken In Death

William H. Tyson, 66, Of Punxsutawney, Is Dead; High Ranking Checker Expert

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Aug. 14.—Funeral services for Will H. Tyson, 66, lumber manufacturer, mine operator and once ranked as the world's best checker player, are to be held from the family home at Big Run, near here, Thursday afternoon.

Tyson, who was president of the American Checker Association, died late yesterday of an intestinal disorder. His passing removed one of the nation's best known checker experts. In addition to his sports lumbering and mine activities, Tyson was interested in the Punxsutawney National and Big Run banks.

Services are to be held from the family home with Masonic services. The widow, one son, Dr. J. M. Tyson, and two daughters, Mrs. John Hugh Groves, of DuBois, and Miss Nora Bell Tyson, survive.

Youths In Battle On Public Square

Friendship Of Woman Is Cause Of Trouble; Mayor Acts As Harmonizer

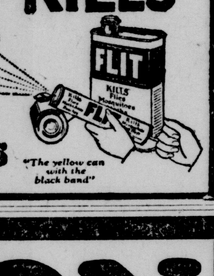

Women have ruined empires in less than ten minutes. Women have caused friends to separate—have caused Damon and Pythias to become arch enemies. Women—but why continue to be cynical?

However women did bring about the breaking point in the friendship of Leo O'Neil and James Maracella two 18-year-old youths of the city who were arragined before Mayor William H. Gillespie in police court this morning. The charge was that the boys were fighting; fighting on the public square at 7 o'clock Monday evening. And they were fighting about women, or rather a woman. Fickle person that she was she had switched her favor from one to the other and caused hard feelings.

According to the code duello there was but one thing to do. And that was to fight it out with weapons provided by a kind providence for just such emergencies. They fought. Almost a riot call was sounded. It was answered by Detective John Young and Officers Moore and Flinner. Take to the police station the boys still continued to fight. They were placed in separate cells pending morning police court.

Sheepishly they stood before the mayor and sheepishly they admitted that it was a woman who had brought about the breach in their friendship; a friendship which had started 12 years ago when they played cowboy and Indian together. The mayor cogitated, and then gave a short lecture on the evils of fighting and especially of fighting about women.

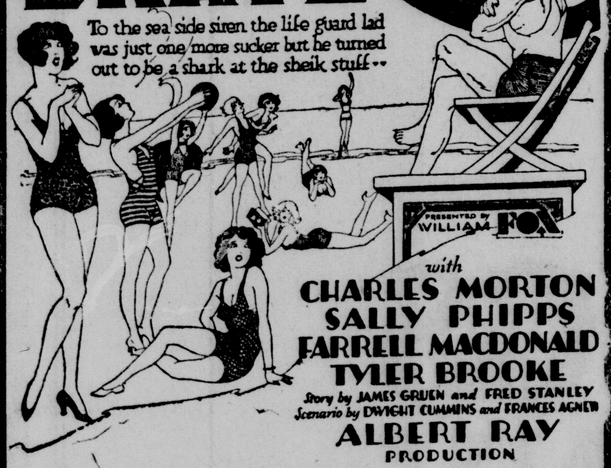

Dismissed when they promised never to do it again they went out of the court arm in arm beginning anew their old friendship interrupted Monday evening.

A Page From Boyhood

By JOHN M. SNYDER
President Reynoldstown School Association

The fact that Old Timers' Day will be observed Wednesday and members of the Reynoldstown School Association are meeting today prompted the search for some person, who was a boy of New Castle in the years gone by, who could relate some of his past that might interest people at the present time.

Inquiry among some of the older residents, it was suggested that John M. Snyder, president of the Reynoldstown School Association, be approached on the subject, because of the fact that he had spent his early life on the East Side and was generally on hand when boyish stunts were in order. The old "Reynoldstown" crowd furnished the first idea and inspiration for the creation of "Peck's Bad Boy" according to Mr. Snyder, who gave the following first hand information regarding incidents that occurred in his early life on the East Side.

Said Mr. Snyder, "The News has my permission to print any truth about me since I was born but the incident most vividly impressed on my memory could not be related as an interview but may appeal to all in the following form.

"Those who lived back in the early sixties can recall that there were no 'Little Lord Fauntleroys' nor 'Buster Brown' style in boys' suits, but our clothes were homemade by mother, including shirt, trousers, and a coat waist length and with brass buttons, called a round about. The coat was reserved for cold weather, as the summer outfit only meant shirt, pants, a pair of suspenders made of brown muslin with two or more button holes in the front ends to allow for adjusting as the boy grew.

"Bare feet were also the mode for any season, when snow was not too deep. Well to start my story, I will state that the clothes that I wore at the time this narative is laid, were extra large, shirt very full and waist of trousers extra wide. My homemade galluses were no longer fit to wear on select occasions and one Saturday evening, my father brought me a pair from downtown and they were striped like a rainbow and had "gum elastic" in them, as most of the 'boughten' ones had.

"On Sunday morning, I began to strut around the house and out in the yard and street, feeling big, but my younger brother started crying when he saw my nice suspenders and didn't get a pair like them. He kept up his squall until late in the afternoon, when my father took one of mine and put it on his trousers, and I went around all summer with only that one 'gallus' and as there had never been a very warm affinity between my extra full shirt and wide waisted trousers, the one suspender did not have much influence toward closing the breech.

"From then throughout the summer, I think I furnished the inspiration for that immortal poem, 'Dickey, Dickey Dout.' I had been attending summer school in the Old Stone Church that stood close to the old cemetery on East Washington street, opposite the end of Walnut street.

"When I went back to school on Monday, some of the larger boys would enjoy themselves pulling on that suspender by catching it from behind and letting it snap. After a few pulls, one of the rear buttons came off, so I had to hitch to the remaining back button, which survived the frequent attacks for a few days, until one of the girl pupils brought her little sister to the school when she returned at noon.

"Many of the scholars took a great interest in the little girl and fed her too many dainties and she became ill, and her sister took her back of the church under a tree to lie in the grass.

"At recess, the teacher asked me to carry her in and as I started toward the teacher's platform with the child in my arms, some fellow gave that suspender another yank and off came the other button and I at once felt the need of three hands, but if I had not brought one of my hands into double service there would have been a 'close up' moving picture of 'September Morn.' The reward still stands for the name of the one who napped that suspender.

"In those days it was almost daily that a drove of cattle was brought through town on the way to Pittsburgh, and they were rested in the space back of the church. A drove came soon after I had carried the child in. The drove was still there when the school dismissed. Another boy and I rushed out to get a job of helping them through the big woods as it was solid forest from Ray street to Cascade Park on the Pittsburgh road as it was then known.

"Well the men in charge of the cattle did not hire us, so as was the custom among us boys, we two went over into the old grave yard to stir up a few of the many bumble bees nests that were there during the summer and get them among the drove, which always started a stampede of the cattle, which would usually convince the drovers that they might need a couple of boys.

"But after we got into the grave yard, we spied some man outside the fence asleep, and a jug near him. My chum got over the fence and took the cork out and smelled, then tasted and whispered that it was cider. Then we took the jug and ran over through the field to about where Superior street and East Epworth street join. We took turns in taking drinks. After a little while I began to feel queer and the Reynoldstown school and the whole west side began to turn upside down, which was the last conscious period I could recall for four days.

"It was "hard cider" we got hold of. We were found by some girl who passed and she rushed over to my home and said "Your John is lying over in White's field dead." My father and a neighbor rushed over and carried me and the other boy home.

"That was July 2, 1863. I did not regain consciousness until the night of the 4th of July. I was what was called "dead drunk" during the battle of Gettysburg, besides missing the festive 4th of July, which came on a Saturday, which I remember because mother did not attend church the next day but spent most of the time admonishing me against the evils of drink. Her lecture must have impressed me for since then I have never taken a dring of intoxicating liquor, nor have I ever smoked or taken a chew of tobacco."

Gained Glorious Health Thru Use Of New Konjola

MR. JOHN SOMTAG

Rundown System Invigorated By This Medicine; Also Ended All His Severe Ailments.

The amazing manner in which this new Konjola medicine has restored thousands of people to health after many years suffering from disorders of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels has not only become the talk of the drug and medical trades of this section but is also the subject of much interest to the general public. The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, this city, is daily explaining the merits of this medicine to large crowds of people. A steady stream of voluntary indorsements are received from former sufferers and among the latest to indorse Konjola is Mr. John Somtag, 911 Maryland avenue, New Castle, who made the following statement:

"I am publicly indorsing Konjola because I know what this medicine will do", said Mr. Somtag. "It has restored my health at a time when I felt sure nothing would ever give me the slightest relief.

"Some time ago I was taken sick with a severe case of influenza and when I had recovered from this sickness it seemed to me that my entire system was left in a very run-down condition. My whole body was a mass of aches and pains and nothing that I would ever do for relief helped me the least bit. It was almost impossible for me to get to sleep at night because my nerves were so upset I would roll and toss on my bed for hours. I steadily lost weight and strength until I was a mere shell of my former self. Then my kidneys became affected and I was forced to rise several times every night due to frequent bladder action and all during the day I was subject to severe pains across the small of my back that really made life miserable for me. I was quite discouraged because I thought my case was beyond hope and I would go through the rest of my life in this condition.

"But since I have taken Konjola everything is different and this medicine has made such a vast improvement in my condition that I can hardly realize I am the same person. It did not take a great quantity to produce the results I tried so long and hard to obtain. I have just completed the second bottle and I want to tell everyone that my health is all that I ever hoped it to be. I can go to sleep the minute I get in bed and I never wake up until the next morning. All the aches and pains have disappeared and I am steadily gaining in weight and strength. My kidneys are so much stronger that the night risings are things of the miserable past and those pains across my back never come over me. I have a keener enjoyment in the daily activities and am always filled with energy and ambition. It is a pleasure to indorse such a medicine and I know that others will gain the same benefits that I did if they will only give this medicine a fair trial".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown Drug Store, 204 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Investigate Blast Of Liquor Still

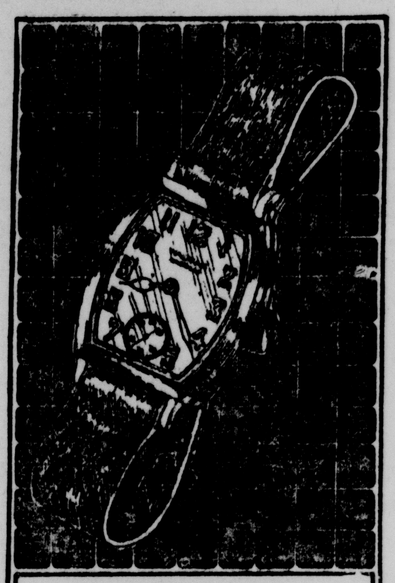

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—An autopsy having dispelled the theory that the two men whose bodies were taken from a fire-swept distillery here may have been wounded or slain prior to the still explosion causing the fire, police Monday turned their attention to a search for two men.

One of the men being sought is the alleged owner of the still. The other is a negro who is said to have obtained $300 from the wife of one of the dead men and to have informed her of her husband's death.

Deputy coroners who examined the bodies of Michael Blazer, 45, and Joseph Medala, 40 stated they believed the exploding still caused their instantaneous death. The autopsy failed to reveal any indication of foul play they said.

Beware Of Poison Ivy Is Warning Of State

"At this season of the year 'the call of the wild' is particularly alluring. And for that reason thousands of Pennsylvanians are now seeking cool and attractive spots in the wooded and open spaces of the Commonwealth. In this connection, everything is being done by the State Health Department and local officials to insure a maximum of benefit with a minimum of risk," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today.

"However, there are many matters which health officials can not control, not the least of which is that peculiar affliction to which so many are acutely sensitive namely, ivy poison.

"The other day a young woman, on pleasure-bent, sought the cool fastness of the woods and a few days later was literally a painful sight to behold. Ivy poison had captured her, made her ill and put her definitely out of the running for some days.

"The strange thing about this particular case is that she is a repeater. Each year her enthusiasm for the wooded spaces urges her to take chances, and each year she is victimized by the insidious ivy vine. All of which might be excusable save for the fact that a thorough cleansing with soap and water immediately after exposure would in all probability have defeated the ivy. And this fact she knew well—merely another example of carelessness where health was concerned!

"Of course, there are many kinds of treatment for this trouble, and the majority of them are more or less effective. But is it not rather foolish to permit matters to come to the point where treatment is required merely because one neglects to apply a liberal amount of soap and warm water as soon as the suspected exposure has occurred?

"The fact that this preventive is so common and utterly lacks the appeal to the imagination, associated with high-sounding names and highly ornate bottles, does not in the least effect its potency. The prevention of ivy poison requires no frills nor fanciful packages. Therefore, throttle it before it gets a start. Wash away possible infection. A little extra trouble perhaps, but it will show results."

Famous Composer Dies In Poverty

Arthur J. Lamb, Composer Of Famous Ballads Of Years Back Is Dead In Providence

(International News Service)

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 14.—Two generations have sung his songs "Asleep in the Deep," "The Bell in the Lighthouse," "Only a Bird in a Golden Cage," "Splash Me," and others.

Two generations have applauded his dramatic art.

The name of Arthur J. Lamb is known in most every home in the land. Yet Monday his body, cold in death, lay unclaimed in an undertaker's shop with prospects of a pauper's burial in potter's field.

The hand that wrote the famous songs and the latter ones "Out of the Dusk With You," and "Into the Dawn With You" is stilled. Lamb came here from New York to negotiate with a Providence man over the production of his latest play "Why Widows Worry." Stricken with embolism above the heart, he was taken from his hotel room to Miriam hospital, where he died.

In his pockets were found $3.90, a 95-cent pawn ticket and an uncashed check for $100 on a New York bank, believed to be for royalties for some recent song.

Average Cost Per Person For Operation Of City $25.37 During Past Year

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 14. — Each individual in New Castle spent $25.37 for operation and maintenance of departments of his city government during the past year, as opposed to the $27.31 which each one in McKeesport spent.

This lower per capita cost is based on the ratio of an estimated population of 51,600 to the $1,309,045 expenditure during 1927. In addition to the departmental upkeep, New Castle spent $624,028 for permanent improvements and paid $134,625 interest on its public indebtedness.

The total disbursements of the city for the year, therefore, amounted to $2,067,698. This sum includes school expenditures of $1,048,587, which represents the spending of $829,371 for upkeep, $78,034 interest on school debt and $141,182 for general outlays. Total disbursements of the city of McKeesport for the year were $2,514,052. Total school payments were $950,130.

New Castle's per capita revenue receipts were $34.67, while those for McKeesport were $41.40. The relative property tax for the latter city was higher than in New Castle, however, the figures per capita being, respectively, $24.64 and $23.99.

The total revenue taken in by New Castle was $1,788,821. This was $345,151 more than the total payments for the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $278,877 less than those for the year if the improvement expenditure is included. The payments in excess of revenue were met from the proceeds of debt obligations. Revenue receipts for the school district amounted to $990,258. Of this total revenue 69.2 per cent came from taxes on property.

This percentage of property taxation represented a decline of 2.2 per cent from the 71.4 per cent for 1926, and a decline of three per cent from the 75.2 for 1917. The increase in amount of property taxes collected, however, has been 139.2 per cent during the 1917-27 period, and 1.1 per cent from 1926 to 1927.

In the matter of net indebtedness per person, McKeesport shows a substantial margin in its favor. The average New Castle individual owed $64.11 in public indebtedness last year while his neighbor in McKeesport owed only $48.76. The New Castle figure also represents a heavy increase over 1926, when it was $48.98, and an even heavier one over ten years ago, when it was but $18.25.

The total funded or fixed debt outstanding January 2, 1928, was $3,335,000, and the net indebtedness was $3,307,949. Of the total net indebtedness, $2,274,855 was for the schools of New Castle. A bond issue for the schools accounts for the big increased debt.

Figures for other nearby Pennsylvania cities have not been announced as yet by the Department of Commerce, which today issued the above statement concerning New Castle.

The Diary of a New Yorker
by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Raids on Broadway "night clubs", 95 per cent of which are bawdy houses or barroom cabarets, used to be futile gestures, for proprietors either opened up at other locations the next evening, or continued blandly to operate in further defiance of the law while attorneys used the injunction power to handcuff the dry forces, or resumed operations at the same old stand after the padlock period was over.

But the most recent campaign against these glorified speakeasies, conducted with a determination that Broadway's guile could not beat, has upset the nonchalance of the operators and they are scurrying to cover. Doors of erstwhile gay places now bear such signs as "Closed for the hot months," "Closed for alterations," "Moved to new location."

However, closing of the night clubs hasn't made the Gay White Way any less gay. The night clubs were never anything but sucker-joints, devoted to the open-faced gypping of loose-spending nonentities desirous of being mistaken for persons of importance, or for the costly edification of tourists who think that notables make whoopee in public.

New York's gayest parties, where stage beauties and millionaires, notables and heiresses give their complexes a romp, aren't held in night clubs or in Greenwich Village, as is popularly supposed by hinterlanders, but in pent-houses atop skyscrapers, on Long Island estates, in Park avenue apartments, or on yachts. What the visitors sees in night clubs running full blast is simply so many reflections of himself.

Despite her recent and many previous arrests, Texas Guinan, the night club queen, insists that she's a good girl, that she never took a drink in her life, that she wouldn't work in a place in which liquor was sold, and that she's good to her mother.

Anyway, she isn't the heartless person she has been pictured to be.

Not long ago an ambitious young man, intent upon impressing some out-of-town friends whom he was showing the town, spread his slender roll of greenbacks along Broadway. Then his guests suggested that the evening and their trip to New York wouldn't be complete without a visit to the Guinan club. The youth didn't know any graceful way to slide out of the situation, and so was dragged into the club with $12 in his pocket. He knew the average check there is around $100.

Inside, he summoned the nerve to ask the "super-hostess" boldly for a moment of her time, explained the situation, and asked, "Can we have five bottles of ginger ale and sit down and watch the customers for a while, for $12?"

Texas, moved by his nerve or his insouciance, sat down and signed the check herself. The only quartet that ever got in and out of her club on $12!

I didn't believe it until I saw it myself:

Errand and stock boys in the stockrooms of one big department store, covering a vast area, are equipped with roller skates. It was an efficiency man's idea. Other stores are copying it.

Nick the Greek (Nick Forzley), biggest of the race horse plungers, is dead, leaving not a penny. The other Nick the Greek, Nicholas Dandolas, all-around gambler, is broke. Both once had more than a million. "Sure things" wiped out their bank rolls.

Nick Dandolas' weakness was craps. He would travel over the country, engaging other professionals at faro, poker and roulette, for any stake, and amass hundreds of thousands; then return to New York and be cleaned by dice tossers. He has been known to bet as much as $40,000 that he'd toss a ten.

Operators Fail To Enthuse Over Conference Plea

Invitation Of Union Miners For Wage Conference Not Being Accepted

MINERS HOPEFUL SOME WILL ACCEPT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—Confronted by the refusal of the larger Western Pennsylvania bituminous operators to enter into wage scale negotiations, the United Mine Workers of America today were still hopeful that their invitations to thirty-one concerns in this district will bear fruit.

Following the stand taken by J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company that his concern was "not interested" in the overtures of District No. 5, U. M. W., looking toward negotiation of a new wage scale, more than a dizen other operators already are on record informally as antipathetic toward such a conference.

Patrick T. Fagan, president of District No. 5, who yesterday extended to the operators what he termed "an opportunity to stabilize their business and give employment to many thousands of idle mine workers," was still hopeful today that a representative group of operators would meet with the miners' representatives around the conference table.

Operators Satisfied

While Fagan's invitation, authorized by the policy committee of District No. 5, found a large number of operators out of the city on business or vacation trips, those who were available were almost to a man antipathetic toward the conference overtures.

These included, in addition to Morrow, representatives of the Vesta Coal Company, Jones and Laughlin Steel subsidiary; Inland Collieries; Langeloth Coal Company; Bulger Block Coal; Chartiers Creek Company; Henderson Coal Company; M. A. Hanna interests, McClane Coal Company; Clyde Coal Company and Superior Coal Company.

Several others said that their companies were operating "on a satisfactory basis," but declined to comment further on the proposed conference.

One ray of hope remained for the success of the parley—the ultimate stand of G. Faber Downey, Jr., acting president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Corporation. Although Downey has not declared in favor of the conference, and has issued a statement declaring for open shop, he has not refused to meet mine union representatives, and it is felt in some union circles that he may be won over to a conference.

Schmidt Asks For Co-Operation

Asks Lodgers Be Sent To His Mission Earlier In Evening

L. Schmidt, superintendent of the Castle Hill Mission in the Croton district, who has been meeting a demand for a place to lodge and feed down and outers, who happen into our city, or who may even reside here, today requested that the public be informed that he would appreciate a little closer co-operation on the part of the authorities and all the people, in trying to have those seeking a night's lodging and something to eat, get to his place not later than nine o'clock at night.

He wishes it understood that he is not complaining or in any way desiring to relieve himself of this task that he has undertaken, but it means that he and his assistants may receive more rest, which they sorely need and also prevent the alarming of the residents in the vicinity of his Mission, by strange and often rough looking men, who are seeking the mission, knocking at doors of homes late at night to inquire the way. Naturally these men are often the occasion of alarm and the frightening of women and children.

Of course there is the exception to every rule and Mr. Schmidt states that he will be glad and willing to care for those in distress at any time of night or day, when notified by the police authorities or people of the city.

He can now care for from 50 to 100 persons at his mission and tourist camp, where everything is free.

Plan To Examine Siamese Twins In Operation Effort

Doctor Weston Must Show Medical Society How He Will Operate

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Final tests and examinations were to be made today of Margaret and Mary Gibb, Siamese twins of Holyoke, Mass., at Park West hospital, to determine just when and how an operation will be performed on them.

It was announced that Margaret's blood pressure, which had been high for several days owing to her excitement, again was normal. The twins are unconcerned over the demand of the New York County Medical society that Dr. Frank P. Weston, who expects to perform the operation, explain just what procedure he'll use and are determined to go through with the operation despite its danger.

"POISON" COW THEORY IN DEATHS

The theory that the death of these four persons at Cabool, Mo., was caused by milk from cows that ate poisonous weeds, is being investigated by physicians. The victims are, left to right: Mrs. Cecil Weatherman, Mrs. Joseph McGehee, mother of Mrs. Weatherman; Nancy Louise McGehee, age 9, her daughter, and Mrs. Weatherman's son, Cecil, Jr., age 3. Below is the McGehee home at Cabool where the Weathermans were visiting when the deaths occurred. A fifth victim, Alberta McGehee, age 15, was reported recovering in a Springfield, Mo., hospital.

Costs Money To Bathe Statues

Dry Cleaner Wants More Money For Job On Barnard Statues In Harrisburg

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—Giving the Barnard statues at the main entrance to the capitol their first bath in 17 years may prove a much more expensive toilette than was at first forecast, it was learned today.

George W. Whigelt, of New York, who originally contracted to wash and repair the statuary for $950 has presented a bill for $1,750. Whigelt claims that the condition of the Carrara marble out of which they were cut was much worse than he had anticipated. Benson E. Taylor, Secretary of Property and Supplies, today seemed prone to hold Whigelt to the original contract regardless of how much work has been done.

Threatens Appeal

Whigelt threatens to appeal to Governor John S. Fisher who is not expected back in Harrisburg for at least two weeks.

Meanwhile several state officials make no secret of their feelings toward the statuary which since its erection in 1911 has been the center of considerable controversy and somewhat of a financial liability to the state.

One figure is said to portray "The Burden of Life," the other "The Joy of Life." State officials are leaning toward the former title as best fitted for both.

The original appropriation for the statuary was $80,000. George Gray Barnard, the sculptor, said it was not enough. A later session awarded him an additional 100,000. That was only the beginning of the trouble the statuary caused state officials.

It was discovered that several of the figures were a bit too nude for some of the taxpayers. Then began a long controversy that was ended by placing concrete slabs about the bodies of several figures.

Anglers Maintain Interest In Lake

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—Success of the fishermen who were first to wet their lines in Lake Wallenpaupack after its opening on August 1 has resulted in hundreds of queries for information regarding it, N. R. Buller, commissioner of fisheries, said today. The queries have come not only from every section of the Commonwealth but also from fishermen in New Jersey, New York and Maryland.

On the first day of the opening season attaches of the Board estimated that at least 5000 fishermen were trying their luck. Continued success since that time has kept hundreds of fishermen about the lake daily.

The unusual popularity of the lake, Buller believes, is due to the rainy weather which has kept the majority of the streams in a condition to prevent successful catches of game fish.

Report Suspect Held In Robbery

Although no official information is available, it is said that a suspect, of Youngstown, O., is held in connection with the robbery of the Norman Jewelry store on North Mill street early Sunday morning in which the window was broken and merchandise valued at $650 scooped from the window by the thieves.

It is thought that three men were necessary to do the job in the way that it was done.

DuPont Sends $50,000 Check To Democrats

DuPont Contribution To Democratic National Fund Is Largest One Yet

PLANS TO SUPPORT GOVERNOR SMITH

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Democratic National headquarters today received a check for $50,000 from Pierre S. Dupont, chairman of the board of the General Motors corporation, who recently declared his support of Governor Smith.

The contribution is the largest received to date by the Smith campaign managers and is one of the largest political contributions ever recorded in any campaign.

Mr. DuPont, who is a director of the association against the prohibition amendment, declared in announcing his support of Smith that the governor's open advocacy of modification of the Volstead act was his principle reason for abandoning the Republican party and throwing his support to the Democratic candidate.

No Limit Is Set

In announcing the $50,000 contribution chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic National committee repeated that the Democratic managers saw no reason for limiting the size of campaign contribtuions.

"We see no objection to contributions of any size so long as they are published and the money used for legitimate campaign purposes," Raskob said.

Selection of Frank L. Polk, undersecretary of State in the administration of Woodrow Wilson, as president of the Collegiate bureau of the Smith campaign was announced today by Raskob.

Polk will open headquarters in the National committee rooms here.

"Governor Smith makes a strong appeal to college men and women," Polk said, in accepting the appointment.

It is his intention to organize Smith clubs on every important campus in the country.

Asks Autoists To Correct Addresses

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—Annual warning to all automobile owners and operators that records of the bureau of motor vehicles must be brought up to date and contain the latest address of each license was sounded today in a bulletin issued by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Owners' certificates and operators' cards should bear the same address as the present residence of the owner or operator. Any person who has changed address since receipt of his last license card should correct it in the bureau records at once. Form 1,-122, supplied by the bureau upon mail or personal request, will enable the change to be made promptly and at no expense. Applicants should retain their license cards and new ones, bearing the address, will be mailed by the bureau when the correction is completed.

Preparation is now under way for mailing the renewal forms of license tags and any persons whose correct address is not on file on the bureau will not receive the application form.

One More Surprise

"What next!" exclaimed Mrs. Charles Levine, wife of the first transatlantic air passenger, when she beheld an auction sale sign on the Levine home at Belle Harbor, N. Y. Meanwhile Mr. Levine is in Paris following a reception by the Royal Automobile Club in Milan.

Glass Company To Add New Building

(International News Service)

FORD CITY, Aug. 14—The new addition to the local plant of the Pittsburgh Safety Plate Glass Company will provide employment for 1000 workmen, it was announced today. The plant is owned by Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and General Motors Corporation. Its product will be non-shatterable glass, to be used mainly for automobile windshields.

Erect 70,000 Signs On Record Schedule

HARRISBURG, Aug. 14.—Erection of 70,000 highway route markers six hours ahead of schedule and the entire job completed within forty-two hours recently was accomplished by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. Markings now conform with the State and Federal system adopted by the department some months ago.

Users of department tourist maps will find the new route numbers on the 1928 edition of the map. The new road markers in conjunction with the warning signs and "Thru-Stop" markers provide a complete guide to the traveller.

Bang! And with a crash an auto hit the street with a sodden thud.

When the reporter happened by it was sitting in the street with a lonesome look and a broken leg and no one to help it out of its plight. It is imagined that since there were not four that the police won't call it double parking.

The Story Of Our War With Spain

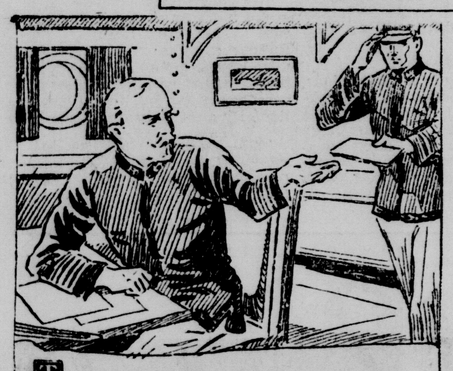

Schley Seeks Cervera

CERVERA MEANT TO COAL QUICKLY AT SANTIAGO, UNLOAD THE SUPPLIES HE HAD BROUGHT FOR THE SPANISH ARMY, AND PUT TO SEA TO RAID THE ATLANTIC COAST OF THE UNITED STATES; BUT THE WORK OF COALING WAS SLOW, AND THE ENGINES OF THE SPANISH WARSHIPS WERE FOUND TO BE IN NEED OF REPAIR.

GENERAL BLANCO, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE SPANISH FORCES IN CUBA, URGED CERVERA TO HELP DEFEND THE ISLAND WITH HIS FLEET, AND THE LATTER TARRIED AT SANTIAGO UNTIL IT WAS TOO LATE TO ESCAPE.

THE ARRIVAL OF THE HOSTILE FLEET AT SANTIAGO WAS REPORTED TO WASHINGTON, AND SAMPSON, THEN AT KEY WEST, WAS NOTIFIED. SAMPSON BELIEVED THE SPANISH ADMIRAL WOULD TRY TO REACH CIENFUEGOS, AND ON MAY 20 ORDERED SCHLEY TO HOLD HIS FLYING SQUADRON OFF THAT PORT.

MAY 21 SCHLEY WAS OFF CIENFUEGOS. HE SAW COLUMNS OF BLACK SMOKE RISING FROM THE DISTANT HARBOR, AND BELIEVING THAT THE SPANISH FLEET HAD ARRIVED, ESTABLISHED A RIGID BLOCKADE.

O'LEARY AND DUNN PROVE TOO CAUTIOUS

Display Class But Punch Is Missing

Carl Cavelli And Andy Tomaskey Put Up Six-Round Fight Which Is Filled With Action, But Tomaskey Wins; Substitute For Lebo, Who Has Bad Heart, Tires From Ride And Falls Before Tom O'Leary; Bobby Belford Stops Young Corsey, Who Fights Him Even Until "Kayo" Comes; Minteer And Engle Put Up Fast Battle

By ED. FRITZ

Although Johnny Dunn and Dick O'Leary exhibited real ability as scienced boxers at Jolly bowl last night a large portion of the audience didn't like their efforts, first because there was not enough action and second because the punch was missing. The judges, Goldberg and Davis called the fight a draw.

The boys, who had fought previously to a crowd of 10,000 and had them standing on their toes, failed here to score a knockdown and the only damage inflicted was the reopening of an old wound above the left eye of O'Leary.

O'Leary displayed the best punch, a long right to the jaw and it landed several times while Dunn excelled at close range. However, they were cautious most of the time and neither took any chances on being beat down as rarely did they stand toe to toe.

The fans at Jolly bowl have witnessed some mighty good battles but last night's bout, as far as slugging is concerned lacked the thrills of past events. But it is a difficult proposition to furnish modified "murder" for the fans every Monday night.

Tomaskey Beats Cavelli

Carl Cavelli and Andy Tomaskey fought a hard six round semi-final bout which was filled with action. Tomaskey proved too smart for Carl who fought Andy about the wind. They started fast and battled after the bell in the first and in the fifth they battled like two fiends while on the ropes.

Tomaskey forced Cavelli to the ropes in the fifth but Carl caught the Polish lad with a hard right to the jaw. They slugged and Tomaskey forced Cavelli to back away and blood from an old wound on Cavelli's ear covered the gladiators. Tomaskey forced the fighting in the sixth and was given a unanimous decision.

Young Corsey fought Bobby Belford. They were evenly matched in heighth and there was only a pound or two difference in weight. Corsey started off good and despite the cry of some sodawater cowboy in the stand they put up a good fight. Belford got to Corsey's stomach, sent him down three times and won by a knockout.

Doctor Orders Removal

Dr. Seal, commission physician at four o'clock yesterday examined Harry Lebo and discovered he had a weak heart and ordered him not to fight and it was necessary to send to Cleveland to secure a substitute, as none could be secured hereabouts.

When Bryan Downey arrived with Johnny Jankowski, the boy was tired from the long automobile ride and proved no match for Tom O'Leary who won in a few rounds. It was a circumstance that could not be helped by Jankowski or the Jolly bowl.

Roy Minteer fought Jimmy Engle, formerly Jimmy Kaplan in the first four round bout which was filled with the real Jolly bowl type of fighting. The officials called the bout a draw but it could have gone to Minteer.

First Baptists Defeat Croton

The First Baptists staged an uphill fight to down the Croton team at the Lehigh field on Monday night by a score of 4 to 3. The Baptists scored the winning run in the final inning with two men out.

The Croton boys enjoyed a lead of 3 to 0 until the final half of the seventh frame and then the Baptists got to Blaine for enough hits to produce four runs and give them the victory. Honkonen on the knoll for the Baptists gave but six hits and fanned three men.

The game was devoid of any extra-base socking. Fox and Evans led the Baptists with the willow with two singles apiece. Blaine was the best hitter for the Croton team.

Round By Round At Jolly Bowl

O'Leary-Dunn Show Class But Fail To Flash Hard Punches

O'Leary and Dunn each weighed 120 1-4 and wore green tights when they entered the ring, and after ten rounds of scientific though cautious fighting the two judges, Goldberg and Davis called the fight a draw. Referee Chip voted for O'Leary but the decision of the judges carried. The account:

Dunn stabbed O'Leary in the face. Dunn drove the right to jaw and O'Leary a right to kidney. O'Leary landed a right to the jaw. O'Leary sent a left to the face. It was a good round from a boxing point not sensational punching.

In the second O'Leary assumed the aggressive. They exchanged lefts to head and body. O'Leary's left eye was cut. They fought at close range. While the bout was fast and classy the going was not filled with hard punching.

O'Leary opened with a left to the stomach and Dunn sent a left to the jaw. O'Leary hooked with a left again and Chip cautioned Dunn for holding. O'Leary jabbed to the face and Dunn retaliated. They worked hard as the round came to an end.

Round four started with infighting. Dunn jabbed and O'Leary forced Dunn to break ground. Dunn jabbed. O'Leary hooked with a left and Dunn retaliated. O'Leary shook Dunn with a right to the jaw. Some applause rippled after the round.

The fifth opened with Dunn rushing in with his head down. O'Leary jabbed and then crossed with his left and landed a right to the jaw. Dunn jabbed and O'Leary crossed a long left and they went to the ropes. They exchanged lefts. Dunn jabbed. It was a fast round and drew some more applause.

They worked short jolts to the chin when the sixth opened. Then slugged. O'Leary landed a right to the jaw and shot a left to the face. Dunn shot a rightuppercut to the chin. They fought to the stomach. Dunn made O'Leary miss left leads. O'Leary clipped Dunn's head with right and left.

Round 7 started with Dunn landing a left to the stomach and a right to the jaw. They fought in close and cuffed each other on the jaw. Dunn landed two right uppercuts to the jaw. O'Leary jabbed. The crowd which appreciated class cheered and the boys who like punch acted otherwise.

O'Leary sent a left hook to the stomach when the eighth opened and Dunn landed a right to the chin. Blows were exchanged to head and body. Dunn jabbed. Dunn sidestepped and O'Leary slipped to the floor. Dunn sent both hands to the body. Blood gushed from O'Leary's left eye and Dunn stepped away after an exchange.

They missed left leads when the ninth started. O'Leary sent a left to the chin, and as Dunn rushed O'Leary caught him with a right to the wind. Dunn sent three or four blows in on the ropes. Both were cautious. Dunn landed a hard left to the wind. It was a slow round.

Round 10 opened with Dunn going into a clinch. O'Leary slugged Dunn three on the head. Dunn chopped him with a right on the head. Dunn jabbed twice then sent another in. O'Leary missed a right. They could not land effectively. Dunn jabbed again. They boxed at close range. At the end of the bout some cheered and some booed. O'Leary was given the decision but the announcer made a mistake as the bout was a draw. Judges called it a draw and the referee gave the bout to O'Leary. Draw stands.

Three Tied For Golfing Honors In Tournament

Armour, Diegel And Williams Tied In Philadelphia Open Tourney

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Tommy Armour, Washington, last year's national open champion; Leo Diegel of Fenimore, Canadian open titleholder, and Dan Williams of Shackamaxon, were tied for the lead with 150 strokes each today as the second round of medal play began for the Philadelphia open golf championship at the North Hills course. Philadelphia golfers were some five strokes behind the leaders.

Two other visiting pros, "Wild" Bill Melhorn, Fenimore, and Fred McLeod, also of Washington, both had 151's. Next came the 154 class, with Charles Hoffner, Ocean City, tied with John Golden, North Jersey; D. E. Cananusa, Oak Ridge, and Al Nelson of York, Pa.

Bill Leach, Overbrook star, topped the Philadelphia group with 155.

Thirty-six more holes will be played today to decide the low medal winner.

Dissension Is Causing Unrest On Dodger Team

Wilbert Robertson Is Having Trouble With Vice President And Treasurer

ROBINSON MAY BE DEPOSED AS LEADER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—The private vendetta between Wilbert Robinson, manager and president of the Brooklyn baseball club, and Stephen W. McKeever, vice-president and treasurer, flared into open warfare today. Answering a statement made by McKeever in Brooklyn to the effect that Uncle Wilbert would be deposed as manager at the end of the current season because the fans were dissatisfied at the team's poor showing, Robinson declared today that McKeever was responsible for the Dodger's failure.

"McKeever's statement is but another of his many attempts to embarrass me," Robinson declared. "He knows he hasn't the power or the authority to depose me.

"He has insulted me at our every meeting, and this attitude has prevented any real harmony in our conduct of the affairs of the club. By his statements and actions he has belittled my authority with the players and made my managerial task doubly difficult. The result was that team spirit and team morale collapsed."

Robinson's contract, said to call for an annual salary of $25,000, has another year to run. In his statement Judge McKeever announced he was willing to take up the contract, but under the club's constitution he has no authority to do so without the consent of the board of directors. It is expected that the matter will come to a head when the board meets in Brooklyn two weeks hence.

Christians Top Hakoah Team 3-2

The Central Christians, behind excellent relief pitching by Jones, downed the Hakoah team, 3 to 2, in a well played Church League game at Colonial field Monday night.

The Hakoah team drove Lewis from the mound in the fifth, when they tallied two runs, but the benders served up by Jones proved very baffling and the Hakoah team did not get a safe hit after the fifth chapter. Rogovin hurled good ball for the Hakoah team, giving but six hits. Rogovin, Shaffer and A. Bauman had extra base blows.

Why Three Local Boys Were Missing

No doubt some of the fans wondered why three of the local boys billed for action last night were missing from the Jolly bowl card but there is a reason and a good one:

Dr. Seal, commission doctor, in examining Romeo Pacelli and Harry Lebo, found that Romeo has an ulcerated stomach and Lebo, a bad heart. It would have been dangerous to use the boys.

Tony Icone who had been booked, broke his hand in training and like Pacelli, was withdrawn from the card Friday, as announced. Lebo's ailment was not discovered until four o'clock yesterday when he was examined

S. Carpentier boxing show to be staged next Monday night would be donated as a means of helping the boy.

Tilden's Status To Be Considered Today

Advisory Committee Of United States Lawn Tennis Team In Session Today

Whether Or Not Bill Tilden Is Amateur Or Professional Will Be Determined

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Skirmishing at short range, and maybe no range at all, over the honor or something of William Tilden will commence promptly at noon today when the advisory committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association is scheduled to go into self-communion. It will be only a "regular" weekly meeting, we are told, but the understanding is that the Tilden matter will get quite an airing, if it actually doesn't occupy the attending gentlemen to the exclusion of all else.

By the time they emerge again into the light of day, it may be that Tilden's status as an amateur or professional will be virtually determined. Of course, you never heard of an advisory committee that was clothed with authority to command. However, this one is different in two ways. First, six of its nine members also are identified with the executive committee, which definitely will pass upon Tilden's case on August 24. Second, this meeting of the advisory committee is so "regular" that perhaps as many as 20 members of other committees may be there in an ex-officio, or kibitzer, capacity.

Closed Meeting.

Judged upon surface indications, today's conference, closed to the outside world as definitely as though the prime minister and his cabinet were about to declare war, will couple President Samuel H. Collom and Joseph W. Wear, the recently resigned Davis cup committee chairman, against the field. They are the only out and out Tilden men on the roster and presence of outsiders won't help the situation, either. For the more U. S. L. T. A. committeemen you drape about the premises, the less Tilden men you are likely to have at the roll call.

Those on the advisory committee who are believed to be anti-Tilden in sentiment, if not in action, are Louis J. Carruthers, Louis B. Dailey, Jones W. Mersereau, Joseph W. Thurston and Holcome Ward. Paul W. Gibbons and Harry S. Knox are regarded as doubtful quantities—on the fence, in other words, ready to jump with the "cat". Of those mentioned, only Mersereau, Thurston and Wear are not members of the executive committee which is to sit in actual judgment of Tilden on the 24th of the month.

Case Not Hopeless.

When that sonorous body meets, Carruthers, Dailey, Ward and perhaps Knox and Gibbons will be joined by Edward B. Moss and Dr. Sumner Hardy, San Francisco, to form the anti-Tilden front. It will be by far the most authoritative group of the two, although Collom still will be available to rally any support for Tilden that may be available. He faces far from a hopeless task, at that. The best of the committee is made up of C. I. Gallagher, Salt Lake City; W. A. Goss, Portland, Ore.; Frank C. Owens, Atlanta; Charles F. McIntosh, Norfolk; J. C. Stewart, Chicago; J. B. Adoue, Jr., Dallas; Ward C. Burton, Minneapolis; J. D. E. Jones, Providence; Davidson Obear, St. Louis, and James M. Lawton, Tuscon.

The geographical expansion of this group is taken to mean that Tilden's case is far from hopeless. For the further away a man gets from the ultra-conservatism of New York and the adjacent east, the more you can usually say for his liberal views, particularly on a question of amateurism.

1927—Chicago Cubs made clean sweep of series with Cincinnati at Chicago and left for east leading the league.

Crucial Tests In Big Leagues

Western Teams And Eastern Teams In Each Section Exchange Stamping Grounds

ATHLETICS CUT LEAD OF YANKS

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The eastern teams in the National League begin their final invasion of the West today, and the western clubs of the American League inaugurate their last tour of the East this season.

The alleged reformation of the New York Yankees, consisting mainly of four straight victories over tail-end Boston Red Sox, will be put to the acid test when they take on the Chicago White Sox. The hard pressed St. Louis Cardinals should enjoy a breathing spell while entertaining the Boston Braves, but the second place New York Giants have a hard row to hoe in Chicago, where they have won only one game this year.

The Athletics cut the Yankees' lead to 4 1-2 games yesterday when Lefty Grove held Detroit to two singles, winning 7 to 1.

Remy Kremer of the Pirates beat Brooklyn for the third time within a week, 6 to 1.

Recall Players

With big Ed. Morris on the mound the Red Sox handed Cleveland a 6 to 2 shellacking. The Mobile southpaw is Boston's 1928 miracle man, for he has won no less than 15 games.

The Cardinals are preparing to recall star boarders from their various baseball farms for the final drive down the stretch. Ernest Orsatti, Minneapolis outfielder, who looked like the real McCoy with the Cards last fall, will be one of the first prodigal sons to return.

Manager Rogers Hornsby of the Braves is looking for players with color and spirit and he has made a good move in getting Outfielder Heinie Mueller from Toledo in exchange for Eddie Moore. Dr. Heinie will go to any lengths to win a ball game. While with the Giants he once was trapped off base, but got back safely by leaping into the air and blocking a thrown ball with his jaw.

Burleigh Grimes, the spitball pitcher, cost Mueller his job with the Giants. Hits made off Grimes are hard to handle because of his spitter. So after catching a short fly hit with Burleigh in the box, Mueller carefully dried the ball on his shirt to avoid making a wild throw. A runner on third scored with the winning tally by a city block, and a few days later Mueller was playing with Toledo.

Slovaks Defeat Mahonings 3-2

The Slovak A. C. downed the Mahonings in an exhibition game at the Cedar street field on Monday night. Both teams are members of the American section of the Twilight league. It was a home run drive by Chemura that decided the contest.

The game was a pitching duel between Cardella and Panas, with the Slovaks having but two hits off Cardella. Rotuno of the Mahonings pounded out a home run in the first inning.

Pittsburgh Pirate fans are having rosy visions of another championship team as Donie Bush's team climbs by virtue of a long run of victories. Cen. Presbyterians Defeat Epworth 6-5

Coming from behind in the first of the seventh the Central Presbyterians retained their leadership in the Church League on Monday night at the Scotland Lane field, by dumping the Epworth team 6 to 5.

The game was loosely played with eight errors being chalked up, four for each team. Kunkhouser had the pitching assignment for the Presbyterians and held the Epworth team to eight hits. Withrow on the hill for the Epworth team was found for ten hits.

Melder had the only extra-base blow of the game and this youngster also turned in the feature play of the evening when he speared a hard hit liner from Nocera with his bare hand in deep left field. The Presbyterians had three fast double plays.

The Presbyterians have kept their slate clean in the second half of the league to date, with eight straight victories.

Rail Strike In West Is Looming

Conductors And Trainmen Of Lines West Of Chicago Take Vote On Strike

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug. 14. — A strike vote was to be taken today by conductors and trainmen on western railroads, according to word received here yesterday from the Cleveland office of President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen.

Strike ballots were prepared last night in the Chicago offices of the Brotherhood and at the headquarters of the Order of Railway Conductors. Meanwhile, ninety general chairman of both unions called meetings of their committees throughout the west to carry out the balloting.

The ballots will be collected at Chicago for tabulation. They must be returned by Sept. 2, when the decision of the Brotherhoods will be announced.

Approximately 70,000 employes and 80 roads, owning about 98 per cent of the trackage west of Chicago, are involved in the threatened tieup.

The men will vote on their original demands for increases in wages and salary running from 10 per cent for yardmen to 18 per cent for conductors, according to President Whitney.

France's Greatest — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

"Who was France's greatest track athlete?" I asked a prominent sports writer in Paris not long ago. "George Andre" he replied without a moment's hesitation and after hearing of this remarkable sportsman's record I am sure that you will agree with him.

At the Olympic games in Paris in 1924 a fine looking Frenchman was chosen to take the Olympic oath on Behalf of all of the athletes gathered in colombes stadium to compete for the world's amateur titles. He was George Andre of France and one reason that he was so honored was because he himself had competed in the "Jeux Olympique" of 1908 at London, of 1912 at Stockholm and of 1920 at Antwerp. And in 1924 he placed fourth in the 400-meter hurdle race.

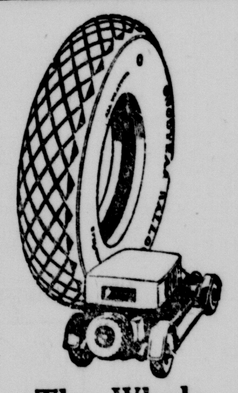

Andre began his Olympic career by placing second to Porter of America in the high jump at London in 1908. At that time he was the holder of the French record for the 110-meter hurdles and the running high records for 400-meter hurdles and standing high jump. In 1916 George Andre was busy fighting the Germans and there was no Olympic games to bother about anyway. In 1920 he placed fourth in the 400-meter hurdles. And bear in mind that all this time Andre was a great Rugby player representing France at wing three-quarters in many international matches.

Recently he gave up his job of coaching the Spanish Olympic team because the Spaniards wanted the miracle of a winning team at Amsterdam this year and Andre could only promise them some good results by 1936.

Here's to George Andre—modest, sincere, wise courageous and competent—the greatest French athletic of modern times.

The Olympic events looked like pie to the Yanks. Shame to have those British and Finnish boys eat 'em nearly all up.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Unsettlement and uneasiness over the money situation was reflected in renewed selling of the industrial and motor stocks at the beginning of trading today. General Motors declined in the first period to 178 for a new loss of 4 points, and losses of 1 to 3 points were sustained by U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward and other market leaders.

The call loan rate was unchanged at 7½ per cent.

General Motors was a target for the bears in the first period and several large blocks of the stock were thrown out under 180. The big motors appeared to have plenty of support around 179. The Chrysler pool pushed that stock again to 96, where heavy offerings were encountered and the stock sold off to 94. United States Steel gave another demonstration of its strength, when the stock sold above 144 and stimulated rallying tendencies in the balance of the list.

Bulls in the rails concentrated in Erie, the Nickel Plates and a few of the so-called Southwestern merger stocks, including Kansas City Southern and St. Louis Southwestern. Short covering of the market leaders in the second hour stiffened prices all along the line.

Some Progress On Site Selecting

Hillsville School Location To Be Determined During Present Week

Following a meeting of the Mahoning Township School Board on Monday evening, August 13, it appears that some progress has been made towards the selection of a site for the new school. While no site was selected, arrangements were made to hold another meeting this week at which time it is felt that the site will be definitely decided upon.

Another hindrance to the erection of the new school was met when it was announced that there were no bidders for the bond issue of $109,000.00 which is to pay for the new building.

Some objectionable features of the issue came cut and these will probably be removed and the issue readvertised.

Start Operation To Recover Sum Taken By Toombs

Seek Method For Recovering $3,500,000 Allegedly Missing In St. Louis

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—Attorney General Stratton Shartel today took the first step looking toward the recovery of 3,500,000 allegedly missing from the International Life Insurance Company's funds, when he requested Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, of Illinois to assist him in the present investigation being made of the concern's affairs.

The discrepancies discovered in the search for the money have precipated a widespread investigation of the finances of the insurance firm and of its president, Roy C. Toombs, of Chicago. Licenses permitting the company to operate in several states have been revoked, the latest being Ohio, whose insurance department revoked the internationals license late yesterday.

Bullet Riddled Auto Creates Some Excitement

Youngstown Car With 30 Bullet Holes In It Parks Near News

Riddled with no less than 30 bullet holes, citizens of New Castle were mystified when an automobile, bearing Ohio license 22-279, pulled up and parked on Mercer street, just across from The News office at one o'clock this afternoon. Three men climbed out and immediately disappeared.

A large crowd collected immediately. No one could explain the presence of the automobile. Police were called and Officer Charles Longstreth answered. He had had no word of bandits fleeing into Pennsylvania from Ohio.

Everyone was mystified. People counted the bullet holes and wondered how the occupants escaped with their lives.

Finally it was explained.

Into the editorial rooms of The News came three men, staff men from the Youngstown Vindicator. They were the occupants of the car. It was a car which officers had riddled a short time ago, near New Bedford, believing it to belong to hold-up men, when in reality it was occupied only by two youths on their way home from New Bedford, where they spent the evening with two young ladies.

Boston Milk Supply Jumps On Hot Days

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—The flood of milk which almost inundated Boston during the recent hot spell is ample proof that residents of Boston are well aware of the value of milk as a hot weather food.

On one day at the peak of the thermometer's dash upward 650,000 quarts of milk flowed into this city to provide 2,600,000 people with a glass of milk each.

From the ordinary milk receipts of 45 cars per day the figures suddenly rose to 78 cars. Most of the milk received came via the large milk station of the Boston & Maine railroad at East Somerville. Others came to Medford and Everett to be reshipped to the metropolitan area or over other New England roads.

With the arrival of the heat which August is usually supposed to usher in, an increased demand for milk is anticipated. Orders for greatly increased supplies were flashed to the principal milk sources in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and upper New York state as well as the regular stations in northern and western Massachusetts.

Such a high peak for milk consumption is unusual for Boston, the height of the demand usually coming in early July when the first hot spell finds many workers still at their desks.

With Boston's milk consumption at this new figure this city now ranks with some of the largest in the country in its appreciation of milk as a summer drink.

East McKeesport Woman Is Killed, Slayer Suicides

Boarder In Home Slays Woman In Argument And Then Turns Gun On Himself

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., Aug. 14.—Following an argument at breakfast today, Adalberte Hermandez, 40, shot and killed Mrs. Ivy M. Quintero, mother of four children, and then killed himself with a revolver in the home of Mrs. Quintero's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Burchell, at East McKeesport, where Hermandez boarded.

Before killing himself, Hermandez fired twice at Mrs. Burchell, but missed his mark as she and Mrs. Quintero's children rushed into the kitchen from another part of the house.

County detectives could not learn the cause of the argument which preceded the shooting. The woman, separated from her husband, lived with her mother. She traveled to work each morning with Hermandez. She worked in the Westinghouse plant at Wilmerding and Hermandez worked in East Pittsburgh.

Railroaders In England To Get Decrease In Pay

Estimate 680,000 Railroad Employes In England To Have Wages Sliced

COMPANIES FACE MONEY SHORTAGE

Every Employe From Executive To Station Hand To Accept Cut

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Every man employed by English railways — approximately 680,000 in number—from the executives down to the humblest station porter will receive a reduction in wage as a result of the financial crisis confronting the four great railway systems.

The men voted to accept a 2½ per cent wage cut while the executives acted voluntarily in slicing their own incomes.

The railways have been losing money so heavily that they were threatened with actual bankruptcy.

An agreement was reached between the companies and the three railway trade unions. Put to a vote by the men, it was ratified. The new wage scale went into effect yesterday.

It was estimated today that the wage cut will save the companies approximately $14,000,000 during the next year. Railway receipts so far in 1928 are $30,000,000 under those of last year.

J. H. Thomas, member of parliament and secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, said that this agreement is historic and marks a new era in the relations between labor and capital in Great Britain.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Took a little trip through a lot of food yesterday afternoon. That's not exactly the way to put it perhaps, what I mean is that I did a little roaming around the New Castle Grocery warehouse and it's quite an appetizer just to take a look at those huge piles of provender.

Peaches put up in glass and stacks of breakfast food, canned milk and sacked sugar. Salt stacked nearly to the ceiling, flour and canned tomatoes, and hams that are now canned. Sure enough, whole hams that have a tin overcoat on them. Boxes and boxes of corned beef, but no cabbage alongside of them. Reminds one of that old sing song of little girls, salt, vinegar, mustard pepper. Everything you can think of.

And as I was walking through it just occurred to me that the numerous wholesale groceries we have here are really insurance against want in time of emergency.

If New Castle were cut off from the outside world by flood or any other exigency, there would be no danger of anyone going hungry for a month or six weeks. These wholesale houses have enough food on hand, staples at least, to keep everybody going until communication could be restored.

Grant street on Monday night. Several thousand fans pushing their way to the bowl . . . cars parked along the street and in every vacant lot . . . paper mister . . . the referee this evening is George Chip . . . there goes Pete Capitolo's bell . . . take me in with you will you, fellow . . . peanuts here, fresh roasted . . . cigars or pop . . . the roar of motors on the street is outdone by the roar of the fans . . . a young lady gets excited as a fighter stops one with his chin . . . there he goes . . . no he just slipped . . . the fans are jamming the exits . . . noise . . . roars . . . motors start . . . exhaust fills the air . . . let's have a coke.

For a long time the members of the New Castle Field club have been wondering who was the donor of the splendid new caddie house which has been erected. Apparently it just grew there, but things as substantial as that don't just grow. The secret is out now, the donors of the house are A. C. Hoyt and T. F. Morehead. As a courtesy to them there will be a tournament and dinner held on Wednesday. I don't know what this caddie house cost but it was plenty. And whatever the cost, the generosity of these two men certainly should not go unnoticed. The house adds to the beauty of the field club plan, it fills a long felt want and means much to the club members

Four Wealthy Boys Believed Drown As Sail Boat Upsets

(International News Service)

WATCH HILL, R. I., Aug. 14.—Lives of four wealthy youths were believed Monday to have been claimed by the waters of Long Island Sound when their sailboad upset five miles out between Noank, Conn., and Fishers Island, N. Y.

George Adams a fisherman of Noank found John B. Colghan, Jr., 22 of Chestuut Hill, Penn., floating on the bottom of the upturned craft. The young man was unconscious.

His companions who were nowhere to be seen were: Trowbridge Cottrell, of Westerly, R. I., son of Arthur M. Cottrell, printing press manufacturer; John McIlvain of Philadelphia; Joseph Sales of St. Louis and Loyd Bankson of Boston.

Colghan suffering from exposure, was taken to Westerly hospital in a serious condition.

Closing Week At Boy Scout Camp

Last Chance At Camp To Pass Tests Appeals To Scout Groups

The closing week of summer camping at Camp Phillips has been accepted by all the scouts as the last opportunity to prepare and pass the regulation tests for further advancement in scouting, and Camp Director LeRoy M. Norton has announced that intensive instruction will be given to all campers that they may leave Camp Phillips with added laurels and promotions. Herman Nolte and the junior officers are busy assisting and coaching the boys. An enviable record is expected on the closing day that will eclipse all other camping seasons, both as to the numbers of scouts attending camp, as well as for the educational results obtained.

The daily inspection yesterday was won by C. A. Martin hut, a unit of the Dan Boone stockade, tenanted by Otto Mackey, Bob Brown, John Suciu, Merle Bees, led by Baldy Watson, junior officer. The "hunter" scalp was awarded to Bob Enfield and Charles Lockhart. Two swimming periods were held, and Swimming Instructor Herman Nolte gave scout life saving instruction and demonstration preparing the boys for life saving tests to be held shortly. Jack Stone, a former staff member, has arrived to remain in camp until the closing day and help in the week's work.

Directed by Junior Officer James Charbonnier, Jr., assisted by Baldy Watson and many scouts, the wiring of the first aid station and the headquarters hut has been completed and is a neat piece of work, winning for the enterprising workers the merit badge on electricity and filling a long wanted need. On Monday, August 20, the camp will continue for one week as Rotary camp week, when more than a hundred boys will be expected from all points of the county. The detailed program will be given later by the camp director.

Busy Bees Remain At Cover's Home

Swarm Which Adopted Neshannock Avenue Home Several Weeks Ago, Remains

The swarm of bees that came to the home of B. W. Cover, on 455 Neshannock avenue three weeks ago and settled between the plaster and the siding of the house are still there, according to Mrs. Cover, and are still working away at their honey making.

They are no bother whatever, stated Mrs. Cover, they come out of the augur hole in the weather boarding and go in their search for the flowers and return to their honey making. They have bothered no one as yet as far as stinging is concerned.

None of the bees have left, and the huge swarm that arrived and took four hours to all get through the augur hole into their new home are there and working yet.

No attempt has been made, stated Mrs. Cover to get any honey from the house.

There's no great objection to a power trust if the machines run by its power aren't political.

The Way of the World

By GROVE PATTERSON

IS SPEED EVERYTHING?

In Spain there are many bullock carts on the road. They travel slowly along the highways. Auto salesmen, visiting that country, see a fine chance for sales. But it isn't so easy to make the sale. Slung beneath the high vehicle is a hammock. In this the driver can sleep peacefully while the bullock plods along the road. In time he gets there, and he finds it soon enough. Perhaps the dwellers in what we call less progressive countries are right in resisting the appeal of speed.

RICHES OF WASTE

We hear plenty of the waste of riches, but the riches of waste prove a more fascinating subject. If all the 12,000,000 tons of white paper we use in this country every year could be made of corn stalks—as probably they will be some day—there would still be corn stalks left. And it is said by chemists that there are nearly 75,000,000 tons of wood and sawmill waste that can be reclaimed.

With scientists more and more turning their attention to the conversion of waste material into rich products, the generation now coming up can face the future with confidence, as far as industry and economics are concerned.

TRAINING

Herr Hagenbeck of Hamburg, world famous animal buyer and trainer, says boys and girls are getting wilder and wild animals are getting tamer. Twenty-five years ago Hagenbeck astonished us by taking animals out of cages and establishing a barless zoo on a great acreage near Hamburg. The confidence he has in animals and his expertness in training methods are what make them tame. Well, perhaps that's what the boys and girls need most. Perhaps they need a Hagenbeck and Hagenbeck methods.

UN-AMERICAN

This republic was founded on a very few fundamental principles. Fortunately the big men who were interested in setting up a government and writing a constitution to operate it were agreed on these few things. They put freedom into the foundation. There is nothing that America should be so proud of as this foresight of the founders. And yet, today, weak minds prate about 100 per cent Americanism, hooking it up with an attack on certain creeds. Nothing could be so completely un-American as that attitude.
